WOOL

BRADFORD.—Conditions vary a good deal as between one firm and another. Some mills are working to maximum output in order to meet demands for quick delivery. This applies to British Government requirements, and, to some extent, to export piece trade. Very little new civilian trade is being done. Prices show no appreciable change.

QUIETLY FIRM MARKETS

GILT-EDGED AND RAILS GO AHEAD

DUBLIN

Business was of rather modest dimensions on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, but the tone was fairly steady. Home Funds received some strong support, with 4½ p.c. Third National Loan and 4 p.c. Conversion Loan both one point better at 104½ and 99½ respectively, while Fourth National Loan advanced 15/- to 93. British Funds were also rather firmer, with 3½ p.c. War Loan a very active market, and the stock finally finished 7/6 to the good at 99⅛.

Among Corporation issues, Bray 3¾ p.c. were 5/- up at 71, and Dublin 4 p.c. 1955/60 repeated last price. The Banking section was quiet, Bank of Ireland and Nationals both recording previous levels. In the Brewery group, Guinness Ord. were better, but closed under the best at 61/6, whilst the Pref. eased off ¼ to 12¾. Power Debenture repeated 18/6.

Alliance Gas Ord. gained 9d. to 20/9, as did Dublin Tram Pref. 3d. to 18/-.

In the Irish Industrial group, Ever Ready Ord. and Cement Ord. both put on 3d. to 8/- and 24/9, and May Roberts Pref. added a like amount to 20/9 (small). Irish Sugar Pref. jumped 1/4½ to 21/6, and Irish Civil Service Building rose a half-point at 42½. Goulding Ord. eased 2/- to 23/- in a small way.

British Industrials were quiet, and with the exception of Courtaulds, which lost 1½d. to 25/6, all showed substantial gains over previous quotations.

VALUE OF DOLLAR

The United States dollar is worth, approximately, 4s. 11½d. in Dublin to-day.

LONDON

The London Stock Markets were quieter yesterday after last week's big recovery, but, while business generally moved slowly, buyers again predominated and most sections maintained a firm appearance. Attention was directed chiefly to Gilt-edged securities and British Rails, the latter being especially favoured on the view that the recent fall in prices has been overdone. Industrials experienced little fresh activity, and the leading counters fluctuated somewhat irregularly, with no feature of particular interest. Oil shares lacked fresh support, and consequently displayed a sagging tendency, whilst the Kaffir group was held in check by a certain amount of selling by refugees.

Gilt-edged securities began with an all-round advance, and under the influence of a steady inflow of investment inquiries, some of which were fairly substantial, quotations forged further ahead in subsequent dealings. The rise slowed down just before the end and one or two issues fell back slightly. Even so, final quotations made a bright showing with Local Loans and Conversion 3½ per cent. no less than ¼ to the good at 85¼ and 99¾ respectively. War Loan 3 per cent. reached par with a similar gain, while Old War Loan put on another 5/9 to 99⅛.

RAIL INTERIMS ON JULY 26

Foreign Bonds experienced little relief from their recent idle conditions, and once again actual transactions were too limited to warrant any material change in values. Exceptionally, Japanese 6 per cent. 1924 found quiet support, and improved to 27. The only noteworthy alteration elsewhere was a point loss to 15 in Chinese 5 per cent. 1913.

British Rails took their cue from Gilt-edged and, to the accompaniment of buying on a brisk and well-distributed scale, prices developed renewed firmness. The market was further assisted by the news that all the companies will this year announce their interims on the same day—July 26. When trading ceased Great Western Ordinary was 1 up at 29, whilst several of the Prior Charge issues were a point better. Foreign Rails continued quiet, with several of the Argentine Debentures off colour.

DISTILLERS GOOD

INDUSTRIAL MARKET

Taken as a whole the Industrial market maintained a satisfactory tone, although business was on only a moderate scale, and interest was specialised rather than of a general character.

A good feature was provided by Distillers, which were a good market throughout the day, demand being stimulated by the big rise in cash holdings revealed by the balance sheet. The price advanced 1s. 9d. to 58s. Firmness was also displayed by Brewery shares, among which Courage rose 2s. to 44s. 6d., and Watney Deferred gained 3s. at 42s. Guinness were maintained at 63s. 6d.

In the Iron and Steel sections a satisfactory tendency prevailed, and prices were not slow to respond where demand existed. Tube Investments were prominent, a demand finding stock in poor supply; the price rose 3s. to 70s. Swan Hunters were supported, and improved 1s. 3d. South Durhams were 1s. up, and Staveley advanced 9d. Vickers at 13s. 3d. were 3d. to the good.

Among Stores shares interest centred mainly on Marks and Spencer and Woolworths, the former rising 9d. and the latter 1s. Tobaccos provided little of interest, and had an easier trend. "Imps" fell ⅛. Carreras also lost ⅛, and Gallahers declined ⅛. Aircrafts and Motor shares made a mixed showing. In the Motor section, Austins, Leylands and Standards improved, but Rolls-Royce left off easier. Among Aircrafts an improvement in Bristols was offset by a loss in De Havillands.

Bank and Insurance shares responded to a small investment demand. Among Textiles, Coats lost 3d., but Bradford Dyers, Calico Printers and Fine Spinners improved, with Rayons unchanged. Elsewhere, Dunlop Rubbers lost 3d. to 25s., and Molasses shed 3d., but Lever and Unilever rose 6d., and Pinchin Johnsons also added 3d. Boots and Beechams Defd. were easier.

FINANCE ISSUES FEATURE IN KAFFIRS

The Mining Market generally maintained a very firm front, though interest was still at a low ebb. In Kaffirs the finance issues continued their recovery, Rand Mines and Union Corporation each closing ⅛ better. Among the dividend-payers Simmers were supported, and further improved 9d. to 15/-, while rises of 1/16 were secured by Consolidated Main Reef and Robinson Deep. Van Dyk Consolidated also improved, but reactions took place in Rand Leases and Daggas. The developing mines were maintained.

There were a few small rises in West Africans, and among other Gold shares Nundydroog at 1¼, and Mysore at 1, were both 1/16 higher.

Fresh support was forthcoming for Tins on the enhanced prospects of the industry. South Malayans and Tronohs were notably good, closing ⅛ and 1/16 better respectively, and Pahangs at 14/- were strong. Strength was also displayed by the Barriers as a result of Australian support. Broken Hill Props. were as much as ⅛ up at 1⅞, while gains of 1/16 were recorded by Souths and Norths. Rhodesian Coppers were slightly firmer.

OILS AND RUBBERS

Oil shares failed to maintain the firmer tone which developed in the closing days of last week. For the most part prices were easier at the start, and further weakened during the day.

The statements at the annual meeting of the Shell Transport and Trading Company threw no new light on the oil situation generally, or as affecting the Royal Dutch-Shell group. "Shells" fell away steadily on a little offering, closing 1/16 down at 1⅝. Anglo-Iranians also became dull, losing 1/16 at 1⅛, while Burmahs fell 1/16 to 2¼. Mexican Eagles eased to 3/1½. In the Trinidad group T.P.D. met with a little support, and improved 6d. to 38/-. Elsewhere interest was barely sufficient to test prices.

The improved tendency displayed by Rubber shares during the closing days of the past week became slightly more pronounced yesterday. Some interest was shown in several of the better-class issues, and although business failed to show material improvement it was certainly better than formerly. The leading issues remained firm under the influence of a small demand.

LONDON MONEY MARKET

Preparations by the clearing banks for the absorption of the first issue of Treasury deposit receipts resulted in a slight falling off in the demand for bills yesterday. For the most part market houses encountered no difficulty in finding spot purchasers of short-dated paper, but there was a little reluctance upon the part of the banks to arrange forward bill purchases to be completed in the later part of the week. *This development was not, however, sufficiently marked to influence the trend of rates in any way. Borrowers were usually able to satisfy their overnight needs in non-clearing quarters at 1 per cent. Clearing bank charges remained at the usual levels. A very small business was transacted in silver. Forward metal gained ⅛d. to 21⅛d. per ounce, but spot remained at 21⅛d.

In the foreign exchange market, Baltic and Balkan currencies weakened slightly.

SMALL CHANGES ON WALL STREET

A WAIT-AND-SEE POLICY

(FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.)

NEW YORK, Monday.

The majority of stocks sagged slightly, but movements were meaningless. The Secretary of Commerce issued a statement to the effect that industrial recovery which broadened during June is gaining momentum, but excess profits tax legislation, the political uncertainties, and the projected blitzkrieg on Great Britain were the major retarding influences.

The turnover of 230,000 shares comprised 532 issues, of which 149 were higher and 187 were lower.

Early trading was sluggish, with operators adopting a wait-and-see attitude. Movements were negligible, but minor gains predominated at midday. The Steels ignored the sharp recovery in steel mill activity. Aircrafts held steady. The final prices were very narrow either way, but the market closed on a steady note.

Sterling exchange opened unchanged at $3.77, but closed ¼c. lower at $3.76¾. Silver was unchanged at 34¾c.

BRITAIN TO REGARD FRENCH AS NON-ENEMY ALIENS

French people in Great Britain are to be treated as non-enemy aliens, but special consideration will be given to those who satisfy the authorities that they are willing actively to support the Allied cause. This was announced last night in London.

French nationals will now come under the curfew restrictions, and the prohibition against the possession without a police permit of bicycles and motor vehicles. They are also prevented from entering prohibited areas.

Rumania's Fate

Public interest has been concentrated to such an extent upon the Franco-British dispute in the Mediterranean that events in the Balkans almost have been ignored during the last week or so. Yet history is being made along the banks of the Danube; and when the story of the present war comes to be written twenty or thirty years hence recent developments in the Balkans may prove to have been just as important as the shelling of the French Fleet by Admiral Somerville's squadron at Mers-el-Kebir. The ultimate issue in the Balkan peninsula is the struggle for economic control between Germany and Soviet Russia. For generations Russia has been regarded by the Slavonic peoples in the Balkans as their big brother. "God is good and Russia is great," is a Slav proverb that could be heard in a thousand Balkan villages thirty years ago; and, although the pan-Slav movement no longer can be regarded as "front-page news," it still must form the background of any intelligent survey of Balkan affairs. When Comrade Stalin decided recently to invade Bessarabia and the Bukovina, he merely was re-occupying territory that had been held by the Romanoffs. He was determined once again to secure a foothold in the Balkans—with an eye upon the eventual conquest of Constantinople, which has been coveted by the Russians since the time of the great Peter—and chose a moment at which the Germans were preoccupied seriously with events in the West. Germany had been looking forward to the economic subjugation of Rumania, and her leaders had hoped to be able to dispose of Bessarabia's rich harvest of grain and soya beans. Now this harvest will be reaped by the Russians, and the clever politicians in the Kremlin can record another bloodless victory which has increased Russian prestige enormously not only in the Balkans, but throughout the Near East. Evidently the Germans have no desire to pick a quarrel with Moscow. They cannot possibly have been in favour of the Russian invasion of Rumania, particularly in view of Italy's fierce resentment of it; but they have taken the line of least resistance, accepting the accomplished fact, and placating Rumanian opinion to some extent by the exertion of restraining influence on Hungary and Bulgaria. At one moment it looked as if the Magyars and the Bulgars would follow Russia's example by the invasion of Transylvania and the Dobrudja respectively; but Germany persuaded them to hold their hands, and it is unlikely that, for the moment at any rate, Balkan peace will be disturbed.

Naturally, Herr Hitler did not intervene in Rumanian affairs without the guarantee of a quid pro quo. At the beginning of the war Rumania, although not bound to the Western democracies by a formal alliance, was definitely inside the Franco-British orbit, and had accepted a guarantee of national and territorial integrity from the Governments of Great Britain and of France. Now that guarantee—which, in the nature of things, had become inoperative—has been renounced by the Rumanian Government, which has proclaimed its general adherence to the Rome-Berlin "axis." Greater Rumania owed its vast territorial expansion, as well as its position in post-war Europe, largely to the efforts of that remarkable individual, Monsieur Titulescu, who, next to Dr. Benes of Czecho-Slovakia, probably was the outstanding European statesman of his time. He was one of the architects of the Little Entente, the object of which was to oppose Hungarian, and incidentally Bulgarian, revisionism. Monsieur Titulescu and Dr. Benes clung closely to the French alliance; and it is fairly safe to say that, so long as France remained powerful, Rumania never would have changed her policy. When France collapsed and Russia seized the Northern provinces, King Carol found himself in a peculiarly difficult position. The Titulescu party, and all for which it stood, had gone. The bottom had fallen out of Rumania's foreign policy; and the King was forced to adapt himself to the changed conditions. Monsieur Gigurtu, a prominent member of the anti-Semitic Iron Guard, became Prime Minister, and included in his Government several members of the Iron Guard party, representing the extreme Right wing of Rumanian society. Now, after only five days of office, four of Monsieur Gigurtu's Ministers have resigned, on the ground that the Iron Guard has not sufficient representation in the Government; and it is expected in Bucharest that the Premier will be compelled to abandon his attempt to form a representative Administration. In that event it is believed that King Carol will appoint General Antoinescu, a close personal friend of the late Monsieur Codreanu, the Iron Guard leader who was shot "while trying to escape" a few years ago. In other words, Rumania probably will have an exclusively Iron Guard Government. The King, who is popular with all parties, will remain on the Throne; but yet another nominally democratic State will adopt the totalitarian form of government.

Tightening the Belt

"I am stopping luxurious feeding," said Lord Woolton, the British Minister of Food, in a broadcast last night. He gave some instances of what he meant. Nobody from now onwards will be entitled to more than two ounces of tea in the week; after a fortnight margarine and cooking fats will be rationed "in association with butter"; fish and meat courses will not be permitted at the same meal in a hotel or restaurant; confectionery must dispense with icing in order to save sugar. The people of Great Britain, in short, must tighten their belts and endure the discomforts of a war-time diet. Their efficiency is unlikely to be impaired for the tasks either of war or of peace; the poor will have no less than they were able to afford in earlier days, while most of the rich eat too much already, and a reduction of diet will do them good rather than damage. Lord Woolton was careful to stress the point that there is no real shortage of food in the United Kingdom. On the contrary, all reports agree that there is such an abundance as has not existed for a very long time past—if ever previously; but this abundance must be conserved in order that Great Britain may face the most severe crisis in her history. The fact that considerable stocks of food exist now is no guarantee that they will be kept replenished. Many things may happen between now and the end of the war; and, even if Great Britain manages to hold the seas and to escort her food-ships in safety, she will need the larger part of her tonnage for the transport of munitions. The immediate necessity is to ensure that there will be no waste; and to prevent waste is the first purpose of the rationing system which, in respect of bacon and butter, has been in operation since last September. The second necessity is to prevent the destruction of her existing stocks by enemy action. To this end the entire country has been divided into separate regions, every one of which can be supplied with its requirements of food from a local centre. There no longer are huge concentrations of food-stuffs at the great ports to form an easy mark for the German bomber; instead, supplies are dispersed among the numerous local centres, from which the work of distribution is accomplished. Last week Lord Woolton paid a visit to Manchester, where he examined the machinery of the new arrangements, and declared himself satisfied with it. There did not seem, he said, to be any extravagance of administration, and certainly no red-tape—high praise, indeed, for an organisation that entrusts the feeding of 650,000 people to some seventy officials. Inconvenience, without doubt, will occur, and some parts of England cannot expect to escape positive hardship when the real trial of strength begins; but the country has been organised so thoroughly, by all reports, that there ought to be no danger of starvation—which inevitably would be the fate of an unorganised country. New methods of food transport may become necessary from time to time; these, too, have been devised. If Great Britain is defeated in the approaching struggle, it ought not to be by hunger.

Gretna Green

For close on two hundred years runaway marriages have been taking place in the blacksmith's shop at Gretna Green, but last week the old law which permitted these romantic unions ceased to be valid. Even the popular and economical form of marriage by declaration before the sheriff has been abolished, and in the place of both there has been substituted a ceremony somewhat similar to the register office which has become so popular in modern England. Only three forms of marriage are recognised now in Scotland: marriage by a minister of a church, marriage before a registrar, and the ancient "marriage by habit and repute," which requires nowadays a declaration by the Court of Session to establish its legality. We do not know whether to be glad or sorry that Gretna Green has gone. It is true that there were many abuses of this convenient form of marriage, but it was an old custom that must have served its purpose pretty well, or otherwise it would not have lasted so long, and we cannot feel that the new registry office will be much of an improvement. An anvil and the smell of scorched hoof may be poor substitutes for the more traditional bell, book and candle; but, as surroundings, are they not at least as worthy as the sealing wax, ink bottles, blotting paper and the inevitable derelict pens of the registrar's office? We have a feeling that of the two places we would prefer the blacksmith's shop. It would be interesting to know just how many marriages were solemnised over the anvil in Gretna Green in recent years. Could the blacksmith tell of a "slump," for instance, since the registry office became so popular, or did the romantic idea of the runaway and the thought of the jolly blacksmith at the journey's end continue to attract as many love-sick couples as ever? We do not care to suggest that Ireland should take up Scotland's cast-off ideas; but, if the blacksmith could assure us that his formerly brisk trade over the anvil remained brisk to the last, it might not be worthless to offer some kind of similar romantic convenience, in the form of a forge and an agreeable blacksmith, say a few miles north of Dundalk, as an attraction to those diffident Irish bachelors who, if we are to believe all that we hear, cannot be bullied, pushed or pulled into marriage by any of the usual or known means. We would prefer to see them go to church like Christians, of course; but, if the marriage rate generally is so seriously below normal, as apparently it is in County Clare, we might justify almost any experiment that will make the men turn their minds to matrimony.

United States and Germany.

The United States has taken over the Sayville wireless, the only direct means of communication between the United States and Germany. In connection with the Sayville station, various American newspapers during the past day or two have been charging the Germans with deceiving the United States by the use of a newly invented apparatus by which a secret message could be flashed between the words of innocent-looking messages without the knowledge of the censor.

Mr. Daniels, the Secretary of the Navy, says that henceforward the station will be worked by United States Navy operators.

New French Advance.

The French have taken the offensive in the neighbourhood of Souches where in the last few days they have taken a line of German trenches and advanced 800 metres beyond them. There has also been extremely heavy artillery fighting between the Meuse and the Moselle preceding a German attack. The French, however, were prepared for the infantry movements which followed, and, apart from brief "stabbing" movements on the part of the German infantry, the engagements so far have been confined to the big guns.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE QUAIL IN IRELAND

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The notes contributed by Mr. Humphreys to your issue of Saturday last will be very generally welcomed, as too little is known on the facts that he so accurately recalls, beginning with the once remarkable abundance of the quail in Ireland, followed by the cessation of its visits from about "1850 or later." Precise dates for the cessation cannot now be ascertained, and, perhaps, can scarcely be conjectured.

That the bird had not ceased to be among our familiar visitants at so late a date as 1854 can be seen from a note in the journal of A. G. More, who writes on June 3rd of that year at the close of a stay of some weeks at Loughgall, Co. Armagh: "I spent the day at Tartaraghan looking for a quail, but could not succeed in meeting with a single bird. And so I am fated to leave Loughgall after hearing them on every side, and yet having never seen them."

Returning as he soon afterwards did to England, it is more than doubtful whether he ever again heard that note, and it is only in his first "List of Irish Birds," published in 1885, that he writes of the quail as having "very much decreased of late years."

For the long hiatus between these dates there is still an unfortunate dearth of information as to when the decrease became clearly noticeable.

On the occasion of its unexpected reappearance in Co. Wexford in the summers of 1892 and 1893 the country people as a rule utterly failed to recognise the note, and some, at first hearing, set it down to turkeys; but a few of the oldest farmers in my neighbourhood at once remembered it as the cry of the quail, or, as they sometimes styled it, the "wet weather" bird, while one seasoned veteran answered my incautious inquiry whether the bird used ever to be met with in winter with a more cutting reprimand than I have often encountered. "No," he told me; "the woodcock in winter; the quail in summer." He threw light on more than one ornithological problem in those few words; but I doubt whether any resident in that part of Ireland who had not passed a good fifty years had at that time any memory of the quail as an Irish bird.

A word as to its note—of which Mr. Humphreys accurately quotes the well-known, popular rendering, "wet-my-lip." I am bound to add that I think this popular rendering calls for some criticism. It seems to me that to anyone with an ear for the notes of birds the quail's triple cry can hardly be heard otherwise than with the accent on the middle syllable, which makes the "wet-my-lip" (or "wet-my foot") rendering absolutely wrong. On my own first hearing of the cry (in 1892, when I did not know who the strange vocalist was) I set it down as "Whip-Widow," and I think an equally close rendering, now that the cry has long been familiar to me, is that of "quick-whip-it," uttered from five to a dozen times in succession. It is, of course, possible that the bird may utter its cry with a slightly different emphasis in different localities; but my own opportunities for listening to it—all in County Wexford—have extended over a considerable number of years. I even doubt whether the name—sometimes locally given—of "wet-weather bird" has not some connection with the cry.—Yours, etc.,

C. B. MOFFAT.

CHRISTIANS AND WAR

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—As a member of the Church of Ireland I feel compelled to ask you to publish this inadequate protest against a statement appearing in the "T.C.D." notes in your issue of 6th inst. A statement is there attributed to the editor of The Church of Ireland Gazette that "it is no part of the duty of a Christian to take part in any war."

Opinions of individual conscientious objectors can be treated with contempt and indifference by honest-minded people, but when a Church official makes statements which misrepresent the beliefs of the vast majority of members of that Church there is a wish to dissociate oneself from them.

My hope is that some competent member of the Church of Ireland will deal with the ill-timed expressions of this editor of his Church's Gazette, who apparently is ready to accept the safety and emoluments preserved to him by those Christians who have taken and are now taking part in war.—Yours, etc.,

"C. OF I. LAYMAN."

LONDON LETTER

PURCHASE TAX MAY BE DROPPED

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

THE emergency Budget to be introduced soon is expected to contain departures from conventional modes of finance following the recent appointment of Lord Catto as Financial Adviser to the Treasury and of the Economic Consultative Committee, which includes Mr. J. M. Keynes and Sir Walter Citrine, and these may enable the Purchase Tax Bill to be dropped. This measure was to have been taken in the House of Commons this week, but the second reading of the measure has been postponed, and, in view of the opposition which has been aroused not only among the Labour Party, but also among Conservatives and Liberals, it is likely that the proposals will either be substantially amended or withdrawn. The bill was a legacy from Sir John Simon to Sir Kingsley Wood; but, although it was brought forward months ago, the exact amount of the proposed tax has never been mentioned, and several difficulties concerning the principle of levying a tax on wholesalers when selling to retailers have since come to light.

Farmers Remain

No news is coming from the Channel Islands, but it is understood that the farmers have decided in many cases to remain, most of the refugees who have come to this country being town-dwellers. Before the islands were occupied farmers shot their cattle lest the herds would be seized or would in time die for lack of feeding-stuffs, all of which is imported. The farms were all that the farmers had, and that was why they remained, though they were determined not to provide the invaders with stocks of vegetables. They ran ploughs through potato and tomato fields.

May Conscript Labour

An Order compelling a large section of the civil population not otherwise engaged on essential work to undertake a certain amount of part-time A.R.P. duty will soon be issued as part of the Government's plan for 100 per cent. mobilisation of the nation's man-power and woman-power for defence. The compulsory powers will not be applied if the gaps can be filled up by volunteers, but where there is a shortage of volunteers people will be enrolled for all civil defence and auxiliary fire-fighting services. It has already been decided to use volunteer civilian labour for constructing land military defences, and, if that is not sufficient, able-bodied unemployed men will be conscripted.

Swapping Vegetables

An amusing clearing house arrangement in vegetables is being set up in the City, where staffs of business houses owning gardens or allotments are exchanging lettuce for peas or cabbages for carrots, and so forth. The idea, being practical, is gaining popularity, and it will probably be extended to the country. The avoidance of waste is the great consideration, and it is thought that clearing houses of the kind described may be very useful. In other directions allotment holders are getting into touch with the fruit and vegetable trade with a view to disposal of surplus produce to the best advantage. The production of fruit and vegetables has been very good, indeed, and the prospects of a great potato crop are most hopeful.

Identity Cards

The identification cards now carried by the British population are to be so improved that they will become of real value for identification purposes. Precautions are considered necessary to guard against the use of forged or stolen cards, and the Ministry of Health and the Home Office have been considering various measures. It has been proposed that a photograph of the holder should be affixed to every card, the photograph to be authenticated by some responsible person. One of the changes likely to be made will be a differentiation between British subjects and aliens.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Rowing in Ireland

A month or so ago I said that the sport of rowing in Ireland was on the "slide." That view, in so far as the support accorded to the provincial regattas by the public is concerned, is, unfortunately, true, but among the oarsmen themselves there is happily still an admirable feeling of enthusiasm.

To judge by last week-end's Metropolitan Regatta in Dublin, interest seems as high as ever. The executive were rewarded by one of the biggest entries they ever received, but even more gratifying was the fact that all four provinces were represented—Ulster by Queen's University, Connaught by U.C.G., Munster by Shannon and Cork, and Leinster by a number of clubs, including the two universities.

The attendance, too, was eminently satisfactory and the standard of sport very high. May we hope after this for a revival of interest generally in this grand old sport?

A Good Example

By the way, on the first day of the regatta a colleague in our sports department commented on the lateness of the time—5.45 p.m.—fixed for the last event.

"They will be rowing in the dark," he said, "for, as you know, few regattas in Ireland finish within a couple of hours of the scheduled time."

I am pleased to record that he was wrong. The organisation was splendid at Islandbridge, and the various events were only a question of minutes late. Those who are working so hard for a "revival" in rowing in Ireland, please copy!

There is nothing more irritating to spectators than delays at sporting fixtures, and this has for years been the cardinal fault at the majority of our athletic meetings. I say "majority"; for I exclude some of the recent events run by the A.A.U.E., whose programmes are got through with clock-like precision. If your programme says that the last event is at 5.45 p.m., you can be sure to be out of the ground—well, say at 6 o'clock.

The A.A.U.E. must also get full marks for their decision at two recent meetings at College Park in deciding the weight events not on the main pitch, but over on the Rugby ground. These go along their slow and tedious way while more interesting fare is to be seen.

The sight of bulky gentlemen heaving weights even to record distances leaves me, personally, stone cold. But those who want to see them may—on the Rugby pitch!

"Chu Chin Chow"

I was interested to see that "Chu Chin Chow"—the famous musical comedy of the last war—has just been revived in London. It created a record, which still stands, by running for no less than 2,238 performances. How many people saw the show during its run I do not know, but many of my friends made a point of going to see it every time they returned to England on leave from the front.

The revival has an added interest for Irish theatre-goers, because Miss Rosalinde Fuller, who was such a success when she appeared with Donald Wolfit's company at the Gaiety last year, has one of the leading parts.

The famous Oscar Asche part is being taken in the revival by Lyn Harding, and, as far as I can ascertain, only one member of the original cast is in the present company—Miss Sydney Fairbrother in the rôle of Mahbubah.

"Cracks"

A propos the revival of "Chu Chin Chow," Mr. Ivor Brown, of the Observer and other periodicals, is that comparative rarity among the theatrical critics of to-day—one who takes sufficient trouble with his writing to make it pleasant reading for others than those who merely wish to know what he thought of the play. There is always a cheerful "wise-crack" in a notice of Mr. Brown's.

But sometimes he overdoes it a little. Take his notice of the revival of "Chu Chin Chow" in last Sunday's Observer. It is hardly more than half a column long, but the following "cracks" occur in it:—

"Here, once more, is drama Allah Mode."

"The ladies of Bagdad seem quite heavily upholstered when matched with those who nowadays perform in the strip-and-run type of entertainment."

"Mr. Atkins has not gone out on the old Sahara-boom-de-ay lines."

"Both in fun and sentiment they offer another victory to the Alis."

Positively, Mr. Brown.

The Cock and the Pot

A correspondent writes:—

Several examples of the cock arising from the pot are to be found, as usual, in combination with other emblems of the Passion, on gravestones dated 1791 in the little graveyard of St. Ann's, formerly St. Sentan's, near Bohernabreena, Co. Dublin.

An earlier example in St. Canice's Cathedral, Kilkenny, is proudly pointed out to visitors by the verger.

An English carol relates a similar legend about the cock to the announcement of Christ's birth to King Herod:—

"If this be true," King Herod said,
"Which thou hast told to me,
Then the roasted cock which stands in the dish
Shall crow full senses three."

The cock then thrustened and feathered well
By the work of God's own hand.
And he did crow full senses three
On the dish where he did stand.

—More

On the same subject Mr. Malachy Kelly, of Essex quay, contributes to my information:—

In the National Museum there are several crude, wooden crucifixes, said to have been used during the penal days.

Each of them has carved on it, around the sacred figure, various objects and instruments associated with the Passion. They include those which you mention as being inscribed on a certain ancient tombstone.

The "rising sun" is really the sun half-eclipsed, and the "pot" is a brazier. Mark, Luke and John all narrate that Peter was warming himself at a fire when the cock began crowing on Good Friday morning.

From the accounts of Luke and John it is fairly obvious that the fire of "coals" kindled "in the midst of the hall" was one of charcoal in a brazier.

GERMAN PARACHUTIST ARRESTED BY ENGLISHWOMAN

AIR ATTACK ON CONVOY IN ENGLISH CHANNEL

Thrilling Fight Seen From The Coast

EIGHT ATTACKERS SHOT DOWN

Great Destruction by R.A.F. in Raids Abroad

YESTERDAY was a day of great activity in the air over the coasts of Britain, and last night it was officially announced that eight German 'planes had been brought down during the day.

The greatest battle occurred when a number of German bombers swooped down on a convoy in the English Channel and dropped a large number of bombs, all of which, it is said, fell wide.

British fighters went up and engaged the attackers, and a thrilling fight took place, during which one of the German 'planes fell into the sea. Two others were seen to be damaged, one bursting into flames.

In raids on various parts of England yesterday little damage is said to have been done, and there were few casualties.

In the South-West the first glide-bombing in Britain took place. A machine cut off its engine and, gliding noiselessly for some miles, dropped three bombs, which demolished shops in a main street, and a man is said to have been killed.

A German airman who dropped by parachute into a field after his machine had been disabled, was approached by a woman, whose house was near the spot. She ordered him to put up his hands, took his revolver from him and marched him to a road, where she handed him over to some motor cyclists.

On Sunday night blow after blow was struck by the R.A.F. at military objectives in Germany, Belgium and France. In an attack lasting only four minutes the Leopold Basin at Ostend, now used as a base for German supply ships, was badly damaged.

Direct hits were secured elsewhere on aerodromes and supply ships. Dockyards and railway junctions were bombed, and "the bombers were flying out to sea again almost before the German defences got into action."

TWENTY 'PLANES IN A FIGHT

A reporter who watched from the cliffs the battle over the Channel convoy writes: "Many machine gun bullets fell in the streets and people ran for shelter. As the Germans' bombs fell they sent up cascades of water and shook the ground where I stood.

"A.A. guns on the ships put up a lively barrage and caused the bombers to withdraw. Their escort of Messerschmitts were attacked by British Spitfires and the 'planes split up into twos and three.

Five 'planes are now believed to have been shot down during the battle, which lasted more than an hour and was fought out over sea and land. One of the 'planes destroyed is thought to have been British.

About twenty aircraft were engaged in the fight, during which a German fighter fell in flames into the sea near a British destroyer. Another 'plane is believed to have crashed in flames in a field on a hill.

One of the German fighters machine-gunned houses on the main road as it was chased at nearly 400 miles an hour along the coast by a British machine.

SPRAYS OF BULLETS

A woman who lives on the cliff tops and watched the battle from her garden said: "A Messerschmitt dived straight towards me and suddenly it started firing its machine guns. I grabbed my daughter's hand and pulled her indoors.

"The 'plane peppered the roof with bulleta. It sprayed the main coast road with bulleta. Some workmen threw themselves on to the grass at the roadside."

GLIDE BOMBING

NEW FORM OF ATTACK

It is believed that yesterday's attack on a south-western area was the first "glide-bombing" attack made on Great Britain. The plane, flying at a great height, switches off its engines a few miles from its objective and glides noiselessly to avoid detection.

In an earlier battle over the south-east coast yesterday two Messerschmitt 'planes are believed to have been shot down by British fighters.

Hundreds of watchers saw formations of attackers and defenders meet, break up and join in a fierce battle. One German 'plane was seen to crash in flames. Another, attempting to escape seawards, was trapped by a barrage of A.A. gunfire from shore batteries. Eventually it broke through a curtain of fire, but four Spitfires were on its tail immediately and drove it inland.

THREE MEN CAPTURED

The third German bomber to be destroyed yesterday was shot down in a wheat field on the North-East Coast of England by a Spitfire. The pilot was killed, but three German airmen came down by parachute and were captured.

WOMAN ARRESTS A PARACHUTIST

Mrs. Nora Cardwell, wife of an officer serving in the Local Defence Volunteers, arrested one of the German airmen when their machine was brought down in a battle with British Spitfires off the North-East Coast.

She told a reporter:—"One of the men landed in a field in front of my house. I rushed upstairs and looked through a field glasses to see if the parachutist had any arms. I could not see any, so I went up to him and said: 'Put up your hands.' and he put them up. He was a man six feet in height and about 25 years of age.

"I said to him, 'I want that,' pointing to his revolver. He unbuckled the revolver and handed it to me. I marched him through the backyard, and then some motor cyclists came up and took charge of him."

EIGHT GERMAN 'PLANES DESTROYED

Eight German aircraft were destroyed in a series of air actions fought during yesterday round the British coasts, states an Air Ministry News Service bulletin issued this morning.

A number of others were so seriously damaged that they are unlikely to have reached home.

BATTLE 10,000 FEET UP

There was another air battle over the English South-East Coast last night, making the third in this vicinity yesterday. A thrilling machine-gun battle took place at a height of 10,000 feet.

One machine nose-dived, and as it fell the pilot baled out.

HEAVY ATTACKS ABROAD

R.A.F. STRIKES HARD AT OBJECTIVES IN GERMANY

The following communiqué was issued by the Air Ministry last night:—

"Last (Sunday) night bombers of the R.A.F. attacked targets of military importance at Ludwigsakfen and Frankfurt. Sidings and goods yards at Osnabruck, Soest, Hamm, Ruhrorthafen and Gremburg were bombed.

"Hits were registered on the naval barrack at Wilhelmshaven and on the canal basin at Duisberg-Ruuroit. The German aerodromes at Heide, Westerland and Hornum in the North Friesian Island, and Wesel, north of the Ruhr, were attacked, and also the airports of Rotterdam and Brussels.

"Two of our aircraft are missing.

"Aircraft of Coastal Command attacked an enemy supply vessel in Boulogne Harbour last night. Other aircraft made an attack on the port of Ostend early this morning. A large enemy supply ship was hit, canal lock gates were damaged and several fires started among naval storehouses in the dock area.

"All our aircraft returned safely."

BELGIAN DOCK HEAVILY BOMBED

The Leopold Basin at Ostend, named after the King of the Belgians, and now used as a base for the German supply ships, was bombed yesterday in a surprise attack by Blenheims of the Coastal Command, states the Air Ministry News Service. The attack lasted only four minutes, but great damage was done to the dock gates.

A direct hit was made on a large German supply ship at anchor, and many fires were started. The bombers were flying out to sea again almost before the German defences got into action.

Another German supply ship in the harbour at Willemsoord, on the Dutch coast, was bombed by a Hudson aircraft of the Coastal Command.

DOCKYARD SET ON FIRE

The naval dockyards at Wilhelmshaven were again heavily bombed, and aerodromes and railway junctions in many parts of Germany were attacked in the course of Sunday night's operations by aircraft of the Bomber Command, states the British Air Ministry News Service.

In the raid on Wilhelmshaven, which began shortly after midnight and lasted for half an hour, naval barracks were hit, building were damaged, and a large fire started in the main dockyard. High explosive bombs of heavy calibre were seen to burst in many parts of the target area, in which several warships were lying.

Rail communications over a great area of Northern Germany were seriously disorganised by bombing attacks on railway junctions and sidings at Osnabruck, Soest, Hamm, Gremberg, Heidelburg, Duisberg-Ruhrort and Ruhrort-Hafen.

MUNITIONS FACTORY RAID

Searchlight activity was particularly intense at the inland port of Ruhrort-Hafen, on the Rhine, but the crew of one raider successfully bombed the railway junction there. Munitions factories near Ludwigshafen were also raided during the night, and in both cases high explosive bombs were seen to burst within the target area.

In a series of widespread raids on air bases in German-occupied territories bombs were dropped on the aerodromes at Brussels and Rotterdam, on Westerland aerodrome, on the Island of Sylt, and on the seaplane base and land aerodrome at Hornum.

SEVEN PEOPLE KILLED

GERMAN REPORT OF BRITISH ATTACK

The German-controlled Dutch wireless announces that three bombs were dropped yesterday on the shipping wharves of Slikkeveer (between Rotterdam and Dordrecht). Little damage was done, it was stated.

A later announcement said that Sliedrecht, a centre of Dutch shipbuilding activity, had been bombed by British 'planes flying very high in thundery weather.

Seven people were killed and a number injured and several houses were destroyed, said the spokesman.

THREE RAIDS ON GIBRALTAR

ATTACKS BEATEN OFF

LA LINEA, Monday.

Anti-aircraft guns in Gibraltar and from the ships off shore drove attacking warplanes away three times to-day.

One 'plane, believed to be French, was shot down in the Straits yesterday.

The "Rock" is girding itself against these repeated raids, with workmen rapidly completing trenches, breastworks and A.R.P. shelters.—(Associated Press.)

LITTLE DOING IN WESTERN DESERT

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

CAIRO, Monday.

The British war communiqué issued here to-night states:—"Western Desert—Mersa Matruh was again bombed. There were no casualties and no damage.

"On other fronts nothing to report."

A communiqué issued by the Royal Navy in Cairo to-night states:—"During the air raid on Alexandria on the night of July 7 (last night) reliable observers state that two enemy aircraft were shot down, their wreckage falling into the sea.

"The Resident Admiral has issued a signal to all searchlights and gun positions congratulating the personnel on their good co-operation."

RAID ALARMS IN MALTA

NO FIRING HEARD

MALTA, Monday.

Malta had three more air-raid alarms before noon to-day—at 5.45, 8.45 and 10.45—but no firing was heard. The total civilian casualties in yesterday morning's raid on Malta have now risen to ten civilians killed and nine others wounded.

Nothing developed from the two afternoon raids yesterday, when hostile 'planes were seen approaching the island. It has already been announced that two soldiers were killed and six others wounded in yesterday morning's raid on Malta, when two formations of five enemy aircraft dropped several bombs at 9.15.

Among the dead civilians were children and one woman. One enemy 'plane was shot down at sea by our fighters.—(P.A. War Special.)

613 GERMANS AND ITALIANS LOST

WHEN U-BOAT SANK ARANDORA STAR

It was disclosed in London last night that Kapitan Lautenant Prien, the U-boat commander who penetrated Scapa Flow last October and sank the battleship Royal Oak, is also the man who torpedoed the Arandora Star—and sent 143 German and 470 Italian internees to their deaths.

In his report on his last cruise, broadcast from Zeesen on July 7, Kapitan Prien said: "We got best results from firing at cargo boats. . . . We were returning when we met one more enemy vessel of 45,000 tons. . . . We had the pleasure of assisting at a short display of fireworks, and then old England became poorer by 15,000 tons."

That ship was the Arandora Star.

A number of well-known figures in the London West-End hotel and restaurant world, who were among the 1,500 German and Italian internees on the Arandora Star, are unofficially reported missing. They have, so far, been unaccounted for among those known to be saved. They include: Italo Zangiacomi, general manager of the Piccadilly Hotel, who had been thirty years there; Cesare Maggi, restaurant manager of the Ritz Hotel; Joseph Benini, manager of Hungaria Restaurant; Giovanni Sovrani, manager, Normandie Hotel; Cesare Borgo, manager of the Cafe Anglais; Ettore Zavattoni, banqueting manager of the Savoy Hotel; Primo Pozzo, chef at the Monseigneur Restaurant.

The list of rescued include: Andre Gualdi and Mario Cazzani, partners in Monseigneur Restaurant, who used to run the Embassy Club; Luigi Vergano, late chef at Quaglino's; Cesare Bianchi, head chef of the Cafe Royal.

Other well-known names in the list of saved are Dr. Ricardo Vicchi-Borgbiasi, the gynecologist, and Signor A. Ripamonti, a chief official of the Italian Tourist Bureau in London.

LEBRUN MAY RESIGN

The New French Constitution

200 CASUALTIES ON CRUISER

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

ROME, Monday.

A SUGGESTION that President Lebrun may resign and be replaced by Marshal Petain is made by the "Petit Dauphinois," which adds that Marshal Petain might then entrust the Government to a triumvirate, consisting of M. Pierre Laval, M. Adrien Marquet and General Weygand.

The same paper stated that more than two hundred of the crew were killed or injured when British warplanes bombed the French battle cruiser Dunkerque.

These changes would, the despatch adds, be preliminary to the revision of the Constitution. It is believed, however, that such political leaders as M. Leon Blum and M. Paul Boncour, who will oppose the new Constitution, will be supported by few deputies.

According to reports appearing in the newspapers, it is added that the new Constitution will provide for the creation of two Chambers—an Upper House, whose members will be representatives of big professional, intellectual and economic interests, and a Lower House composed of "corporative and family" representatives.

It will have Travail, Famille and Patrie—Work, Family and Fatherland—as its foundations, and the famous slogan, Liberte, Egalite, Fraternite, will thus, apparently, disappear after 151 years as the motto of France.

An Associated Press message from Grenoble states that the Constitution will be voted separately by the Senate and Chamber to-morrow. On Wednesday Marshal Petain would ask the National Assembly for all powers to draft the Constitution.

BRITISH ATTACK CRUISER

The Petit Dauphinois, which is often used for official announcements, also carried to-day an announcement by the French Navy Ministry which stated that British warplanes had made a further raid on the battle cruiser Dunkerque, attacking it with bombs and machine-gun fire. More than 200 of the crew were killed or injured in this raid, it was stated, and additional heavy damage caused.

GRIEF AND ANGER

General de Gaulle, in a broadcast last night, asked the British people not to regard the naval action at Oran as a direct naval success. He told the French people that their enemies would have used the ships either against Britain or the French Empire. "I say without hesitation," he said, "that it is better that they should have been destroyed." General de Gaulle described the Oran action as "a particularly cruel episode."

"There is not," he said, "a Frenchman who has not heard without grief and anger that units of the French Fleet have been sunk by our Allies. Therefore, speaking to the British people, I ask them to spare us and spare themselves from any interpretation of this tragedy as a direct naval success. It would be unfair. The French ships at Oran were, in fact, incapable of fighting. They were at their moorings, unable to manœuvre or scatter, with officers and crews who had been corroded for a fortnight by the worst moral sufferings. They gave to the British ships the advantage of the first salvos, which, as everyone knows, are decisive at sea at such a short range. Their destruction is not the result of a fight."

DE GAULLE'S ENVOY IN CANADA

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

OTTAWA, Monday.

M. Henri de Kerillis, the well-known French journalist, has arrived in Ottawa as representative of General de Gaulle. After conferences with members of the Canadian Government he will proceed to Washington.

He told the Press that Marshal Petain's acceptance of German domination was "against the tradition and spirit of his own Verdun."

TEA RATIONED AT 2 OZS. A WEEK

BRITAIN PREPARING FOR A LONG SIEGE

Tea is to be rationed immediately at two ounces per head a week in Britain.

Margarine and cooking fats will be rationed in association with butter in a fortnight's time.

Hotels and restaurants are not to serve both a fish and meat course in the same meal.

Icing of confectionery is to stop.

From to-day tea can be bought only upon the surrender of one of the spare coupons in the current ration book. Cups of tea in cafés are not being rationed at present, but caterers will have to make returns of the amount of tea consumed.

Luxury food must stop, and this applies also to the confectionery trade, which will find that its production of general confectionery will be limited by the rationing of sugar and cooking fats.

The possibility that food wastage may be made a criminal offence is being seriously considered by the Minister, who is examining how such an order can be applied.

Lord Woolton, British Food Minister, said: "The time has come when we must ask everybody to go on to 'hard living' and to cut out all luxuries. The present position is better than when I gave my assurance some time ago that food supplies were adequate, and we are bringing into this country every ounce of food we can buy. But the Ministry takes the view that we are in for a long effort of siege. We are now alone, and every effort will be made to bring us to our knees. We are led to expect an active submarine and bombing campaign."

BRITISH DESTROYER TORPEDOED

The destroyer Whirlwind has been sunk by a torpedo, it was announced last night by the British Admiralty.

The official communique is as follows:—"The Secretary of the Admiralty regrets to announce that H.M. destroyer Whirlwind (Lieutenant-Commander J. M. Rodgers, R.N.) has been hit by a torpedo, and subsequently sank.

"Survivors were rescued by another of H.M.S. ships before H.M.S. Whirlwind sank.

"The next-of-kin of casualties have been informed."

The Whirlwind was completed nine months before the end of the last war, and was fitted for war purposes as a minelayer.

Her displacement was 1,100 tons and her complement 134.

FRENCH EMBASSY TO BE WITHDRAWN

The Press Association learnt last night that the French Chargé d'Affaires in London called at the Foreign Office yesterday and stated that the French Embassy in London is to be withdrawn.

It is understood that the British Government is likely to reply to this communication very shortly; but, until it has been sent to the French Government and considered by them, it will be impossible to define precisely the relations between the two countries.

The Marquis of Castellane is now in charge at the French Embassy, having taken over when M. Cambon, the Chargé d'Affaires, resigned at the end of last week.

TENSION IN RUMANIA

IRON GUARD MINISTERS RESIGN

HUNGARIAN CLAIMS TO TRANSYLVANIA

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BUCHAREST, Tuesday.

A NEW development in the Rumanian political situation occurred late last night when three Iron Guard members of the Government resigned.

One of them is Professor Horea Sima, Minister for Arts. It is believed that the Hungarian claim to Transylvania is again at issue, and that tension centres round that question.

HUNGARY'S CLAIMS

Meanwhile it is reported from abroad that during the talks between Herr Von Ribbentrop, the German Foreign Minister, and Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, in Berlin recently Hungarian and Bulgarian claims were discussed.

Count Ciano is credited with having declared that the moment had come for the satisfaction of the claims, in view of the several years' sincere co-operation of Hungary and Bulgaria with the Axis. No Rumanian Government, however, wishes to assume responsibility for further cession of Rumanian territory, whatever its pro-Axis sympathies.

The fall of the present Government is not unlikely. In that case it will be followed by a Government of Iron Guardists, led by General Antonescu, or by a military Government—more likely the latter.

THE RUSSIAN FLEET

Another factor in the general disquiet is a reliable report that the Russian Black Sea Fleet is manœuvring off the Bulgarian port of Varna.

It is thought possible that Russia is on the eve of making demands for the cession of the Dobrudja to Bulgaria.

Meanwhile the atmosphere of pogrom in Rumania darkens. The Army, which appears to be taking a leading part in the pro-Axis policy, has been incensed by the reported ill-treatment of Rumanian officers and troops, generally by the Jews of Bessarabia and the Bukovina during the occupation of those provinces.

Further, the Government yesterday informed the Rumanian Press that they would no longer tolerate either Jewish directors or a Jewish staff on Rumanian newspapers. The orders affect about thirty responsible journalists.

There are also rumours of excluding Jews from the Rumanian Army, café orchestras and theatres and from civil posts.

M. Lavrentiev, the new Soviet Minister in Bucharest yesterday presented his credentials to King Carol. At the request of the Soviet Legation there was the minimum of ceremony.

FROM "THE TIMES"

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

GERMAN PLANS FOR FRANCE

The Times remarks editorially to-day:—The Third Republic, born as it has died within range of the guns of a German invader, has had a stormy career. The Constitution of 1875 never enjoyed the unreserved allegiance of all patriotic Frenchmen, but there can be few Frenchmen anywhere who will not mourn the manner of its going or who will believe that the new Constitution is likely to contribute more than its predecessors to the prosperity, to the stability, or to the honour of France. Of Hitler's ultimate designs for France little has yet been allowed to emerge, but there has been one revealing indiscretion by a member of the French Cabinet: M. Pomaret, the Minister of Labour, has explained that the new France will abandon her "exaggerated industrialism" and become once more a land of peasant agriculture.

According to the German reading of history, the power of Great Britain has been based on her position throughout the 19th century as the centre of the world's industrial production, using non-industrialised colonies and subject territories overseas as her market, as her granary, and as the source of her raw materials. The German dream is to emulate the British achievement, as Germany sees it. Germany is to be the great industrial and military Power in the centre of the Continent. The rest of Europe is to be her colonial territory, which will feed and supply her and be a market for her products, but which will not be allowed to industrialise itself in competition with her.

BRITISH SHIPS AT INDO-CHINA PORTS

REPORT OF SEIZURE DENIED

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

HONG KONG, Monday.

The Hong Kong Telegraph to-day quotes authoritative sources in denying a Japanese report that British ships had been seized by the authorities at ports in French Indo-China.

Hong Kong newspapers state that clearances which had previously been refused for French and British ships to proceed to Indo-China, and to British ships wishing to leave Indo-China, have now been granted by common agreement, and that normal coastal traffic between Indo-China and Hong Kong has already been resumed.

"WE INTEND TO RESIST ANY ATTACK"

MR. DE VALERA ON NEED OF UNITY AND NEUTRALITY

MR. DE VALERA, in an interview on July 5 with Mr. Harold Denny, of the "New York Times," said that come what may, Eire is determined to preserve her neutrality and stay out of the war if it is humanly possible.

If she should be invaded she will resist, and it does not matter what nation invades her—whether Germany is seeking another jumping-off place for an attack on Britain, or whether England is seeking to abort such an attack by occupying Ireland first.

"We are in the unenviable position of being a country which is eyed by two great powers," said Mr. de Valera. "We do not wish to become a cockpit in this war. We do not wish to become the base for attack by any Power upon any other Power. We have not the slightest intention of abandoning our neutrality. We intend to resist any attack from any quarter. But if war—which we do not want, and for which we are in no way to blame—comes upon us, we will do our best to defend ourselves. And whoever comes first will be our immediate enemy."

PARTITION

"We have got on very well with Britain," said Mr. de Valera. "All questions between us have been amicably settled, except one, the most important of all—partition. We have tried to get a united Ireland. The present situation, wherein six counties in the North, inhabited by the same race as ourselves, hundreds of thousands of whom would wish to be united with our twenty-six counties in one State, is anomalous and dangerous. Only in the union of all Ireland will the aspirations of the people be satisfied. As it is now, one part of Ireland is neutral and the other belligerent. That is abnormal from the point of view of defence, as many of us foresaw. To face this emergency Ireland should be whole and undivided. The determination of policy and defence measures are possible only on such a basis. And such measures must be founded on neutrality.

NEUTRALITY

"We are not prepared to join in any such proposal as a defence committee while Ireland is divided. What we do propose is union of Northern Ireland with Eire. This could be accomplished in a day. We are perfectly agreeable to Northern Ireland retaining its parliament and its local governing machinery to deal with local problems just as they do to-day. The only change we contemplate is that the Northern Irish Parliament should be subject to the Parliament of all Ireland instead of to the British Parliament. Then defence measures can be worked out effectively.

"Such defence measures must be worked out on the basis of neutrality. Strict neutrality is our best safeguard. If we let one country in that inevitably would provoke the other to attack. Our only hope is to let none in."

BRITISH REPLY TO JAPAN

"DISSATISFACTION" EXPRESSED

FROM "THE TIMES."

TOKYO, Monday.

Japan has asked the British Government to reconsider their reply regarding the request to close the Burma Road to China. The Japanese answer, coupled with an official expression of "deep dissatisfaction," was given to Sir Robert Craigie, the British Ambassador, by Mr. Arita, the Japanese Foreign Minister, this afternoon.

It leaves the position open, while making it clear that the Japanese Government still expect their request to be granted.

The British reply did not administer a point-blank refusal, but pointed out the difficulty of interfering with legitimate trade, and observed that the rainy season would reduce the traffic by 90 per cent. until September.

The latter consideration was evidently intended to remove Japanese fears that the traffic which they are now stopping in Indo-China might be diverted to Burma.

Sir Robert Craigie's assurances that military supplies are already prohibited from passing through Hong Kong is evidently considered satisfactory, and it is assumed that the difficulties over Hong Kong are settled.

The tone of the Japanese Foreign Office communiqué shows that it is intended for domestic consumption. Any sign of weakness in this matter would arouse a storm which the Government dare not provoke.—(Copyright, per Press Association.)

LORD CRAIGAVON'S RETURN

"CONCENTRATE ON OWN DEFENCES"

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Monday.

The Northern Prime Minister (Viscount Craigavon) returned to Belfast this morning after a week-end visit to London, where he had discussions with Mr. Winston Churchill. Lord Craigavon stated that the whole ground of defensive measures had been covered, and added: "You can read the best into what I said yesterday."

He also said that the arrangements made would be of great value to the new Minister of Public Security (Major J. C. MacDermott, K.C.), and to the people of Ulster generally. "We ourselves will concentrate on our own defences, and make them perfect."

A DISAPPOINTING RESULT

EVACUATION OF CHILDREN FROM BELFAST

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Monday.

The evacuation of Belfast school children from vulnerable areas in the city to safety zones at the seaside and rural areas was continued to-day. Officials of the Ministry of Security in charge of the elaborate arrangements regarded as most disappointing the small number of children who had turned up at the assembly points. Provision had been made for nine thousand evacuees, the majority of whom had not been registered, and a statement issued by the Minister of Security this afternoon stated that approximately only one thousand unregistered children were evacuated to-day.

It is obvious, however, that the evacuation scheme, which is on a purely voluntary basis, has not reached anticipations, and many parents have declined to take advantage of a scheme which would place their children in what are regarded as safer areas.

To-night the Minister of Public Security issued a statement, in which he regrets to learn that in a few isolated instances evacuees, principally mothers with families, had been refused hospitality. This appears to have arisen in some cases through the failure of a few of the local billeting officers to keep in sufficiently close touch with the hosts, and prepare them to receive their guests. In such cases the Ministry does not desire to enforce its powers of compulsion by the formal service of the billeting notice, as it is felt that the children will be happier with people ready to receive them.

Alternative accommodation, either temporary or permanent, has been found for all evacuees who were refused.

LATE NEWS

BRITAIN AND THE FRENCH NAVY

ACTION AGAINST THE BATTLESHIP RICHELIEU

It is learned in London that early on July 8 the Royal Navy continued its operations to prevent important units of the French Fleet from falling into German hands by action against the most recently completed French capital ship, the battleship Richelieu (35,000 tons).

The action was successful, and fuller particulars are expected to be available later to-day.

Launched in January, 1939, the Richelieu was the first of four ships of her class. She was built in a dry dock at Brest. Her speed exceeded 30 knots, and she was armed with eight 15-inch guns, fifteen 6-inch quick-firing guns, and 18 smaller guns for anti-aircraft use.

Her protection was massive, and included a 16-inch waterline belt and eight inches of armour on the decks. She was exceptionally well-defended against torpedoes and mines.

Other ships of her class still incomplete are the Jean Bart, Clemenceau and Gascoyne.

The cost of the Richelieu was first estimated at £5,000,000, but later was brought up to a substantially higher figure.

OTHER FRENCH SHIPS

Other French ships accounted for in the action taken by the British Navy include the battleships Dunkerque and Strasbourg (26,500 tons), two battleships of the Courbet class, 22,000 tons (in British possession), two battleships of the Bretagne class (22,000 tons), and one battleship with the British Fleet at Alexandria.

Serious damage was also done to two destroyers and the 10,000-ton seaplane-carrier Commandant Teste.

In addition, more than 200 vessels, including two battleships, two light cruisers and some submarines, have been boarded in British ports.

The most recent news of the Richelieu last week stated that she was in the Atlantic, possibly running trials.

GERMANS AGAIN OVER ENGLAND

Anti-aircraft guns at one area in South-East England went into action last night when a German 'plane crossed the coast.

A battery of searchlights was in action. Flashes were seen and two detonations heard in the distance. The firing lasted only a minute or two.

A twin-engine raider was attacked by anti-aircraft batteries in the South-West area. R.A.F. machines chased it off.

The raider dropped four bombs which fell into the sea.

JAPAN'S 1,600,000 CASUALTIES

CHINESE GENERAL'S CLAIM

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CHUNGKING, Monday.

One million six hundred thousand Japanese had been killed or wounded from the beginning of the war with China to last May, Chiang Kai-Shek's War Minister, General Ho Ying-Ching, said to-day.

Tokyo admits only 85,800.

In a review of the fighting between Chinese and Japanese during the past three years, General Ho said that the Chinese had 2,000,000 troops at the beginning of the war, but that this total had now been increased to 5,000,000, with several millions more training. Up till May last the Chinese had captured 760 field guns, 3,300 machine-guns, and 69,000 rifles.

Fighting had taken place in 15 provinces, with 1,170 counties. Of these, the Japanese had occupied eight municipalities and 532 counties, but only 58 counties completely.

The present battle front, extending from the Mongolian deserts in the north to the South Seas, was too long for the Japanese military strength, said General Ho. The result was a deadlock on all fronts. He said that 83 per cent. of all able-bodied Japanese were already conscripted.

CHUNGKING BOMBED

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

TOKYO, Monday.

Japanese naval 'planes to-day inflicted "heavy damage on military and other important establishments in and around Chungking," states a communiqué issued by the Japanese Naval Headquarters in China. All the 'planes returned safely to their base, the communiqué says.

The Japanese Domei News Agency claimed to have information from Chungking that the residence of Chiang Kai-Shek was completely destroyed during an intensive air raid on day.

DUBLIN'S FLEET OF 'BUSES

A RECORD OF SAFE TRANSPORT

Dublin is now served by a fleet of 382 omnibuses—148 single-deck and 234 double-deck—all oil-engined vehicles, the majority of which were built at the Dublin United Tramways Company works at Inchicore. This was one of the facts about "Dublin's Transport Revolution" given to the Dublin Rotary Club yesterday by the Public Relations Officer of the Company, Mr. Leslie A. Luke.

The first of the new fleet of single-deck 'buses left the works in December, 1936; in December of the following year the works started delivery of the double-deck vehicles, which were produced at the rate of ten a month. In 1937, when the company was operating petrol-driven vehicles taken over from the independent operators, a delay occurred every 134 miles. To-day the average is only one delay, from any cause, every 24,000 miles. Delays due to mechanical reasons have now been reduced to one in every 72,000 miles.

Safety has been an important factor in developing the omnibus services in Dublin, and during the first six months of this year 76,000,000 passengers were carried 10,000,000 miles, with accidents involving only eighteen casualties. At one holiday period of last year two million passengers were carried in three days without a single mishap of any kind.

The growth of the traffic was shown by the fact that on Whit Monday, 1911, the trams carried 276,000 passengers; on Whit Monday, 1940, the company's trams and omnibuses carried 403,000. This latter figure is not a record, because, on last Christmas Eve, 635,000 passengers were carried.

Trolley 'buses had not been introduced to Dublin, said Mr. Luke, because they cost nearly £1,000 more than an ordinary double-deck omnibus; they also required completely new systems of overhead wires—the old tram wires were useless. The importance of the mobility of the oil-engined 'bus also was emphasised by the dangers of war. A trolley 'bus system might be rendered useless in five minutes by blocked roads, damaged power stations, street poles or overhead wires crashing. The ordinary 'buses, however, carried their own supplies—sufficient for two and a half days' normal running—and could twist and turn among the streets as might be required in any emergency.

Voting thanks to Mr. Luke, Mr. F. M. Summerfield said that the development of omnibuses had focussed attention on the deficiencies of city planning, and that the authorities should give more attention to the design of streets and to the location of the omnibus stops. Mr. R. W. Archer congratulated the company on the high standard of driving generally displayed by its omnibus drivers.

FUNERALS

THE REV. DESMOND CONWAY

The funeral of the Rev. Desmond Conway, C.S.Sp. (aged 21), whose death from meningitis occurred at the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital last Friday, took place from the Holy Ghost Missionary College, Kimmage, Dublin (where he had been pursuing his ecclesiastical studies), yesterday. He was the only son of Mr. Eugent Conway, Principal, National School, Ballymahon, Co. Longford, and Mrs. Conway. The celebrant at the Solemn Requiem Mass at the College was the Rev. Dr. Michael Kennedy, C.S.Sp., Kimmage, who was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Anthony Hampson, C.S.Sp., Blackrock College (deacon), and the Rev. Father J. J. Hampson, C.S.Sp., Kimmage (sub-deacon).

The college choir, under the direction of the Rev. Dr. Bernard Kelly, C.S.Sp., Kimmage, rendered the plain chant and harmonised requiem music during the Mass and subsequent ceremonies.

The chief mourners were:—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Conway (parents); Mrs. Murphy, Miss Keating, and Mr. W. Haughton, Dublin (cousins); Dr. and Mrs. Coyne, Ballymahon; Miss Carolan, Master Troy, Rathdrum; Mrs. and Miss Finnegan, Moyvore, Westmeath; Mr. Sean O'Doherty, Galway; Mr. M. O'Reilly, Cavan; Mr. Matthews, Longford, and Messrs. Sean and Finbar Matthews; Mr. Brefni O'Reilly, Dublin, and Mr. J. Nally, Ballymahon.

OBITUARY

MR. J. C. A. BRIERLEY, M.Sc.

The death of Mr. J. C. A. Brierley, M.Sc., Principal of the Royal Belfast Academical Institution, has taken place at his residence, Silver Hill, Old road, Crawfordsburn, County Down.

Mr. Brierley, who was appointed Principal in March, 1939, in succession to Mr. Geoffrey Garrod, M.A., joined the staff as assistant science master in 1907, and about three years later was appointed headmaster of the science department. A graduate of Manchester University, he took his degree of B.Sc. with a first class in the Honours School of Chemistry. Three years later he took his M.Sc. degree. After a short period in Sunderland at the Bede Collegiate School he joined the staff of the Institution at the invitation of Dr. R. M. Jones.

During the last war Mr. Brierley was an analyst to the Admiralty, and later given a commission in the Royal Engineers. He was sent to the Anti-Gas School in Dublin, and from there he was transferred to the headquarters of the Research Division of the Chemical Warfare Department, first at the Royal Army Medical College at Millbank and later at the University College, London. He retired from the Army with the rank of captain.

He was elected a Fellow of the Institute of Chemistry of Great Britain and Ireland in 1923, and was a member of the Council of the Institute from 1932 to 1935.

He was an assistant examiner for the London University for some years, and an examiner for the Ministry of Education for Northern Ireland.

MR. R. ROUSTON

The death has taken place in Belfast of Mr. Robert Rouston, O.B.E., formerly a prominent Derry business man. He was for sixteen years Chairman of the Committee of Management of Derry City and County Hospital, and during that period he never missed a meeting of the Board or Sub-committee.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN THE SEA

The body of a woman, fully clothed, was taken from the sea near Booterstown, Co. Dublin, yesterday by Civic Guards. The body, which is that of a woman of about 35 to 40 years, was taken to Monkstown Hospital, and up to a late hour had not been identified.

THE FOOD PROBLEM

VIEWS AT DUBLIN COUNTY COUNCIL

The warning of the Minister for Supplies urging people to store food was discussed at a meeting of the Dublin County Council yesterday.

Mr. M. Molloy said that the public were not aware of the true position. He had tried to obtain 5 tons of flour from two mills. One told him that they had none to offer, while the second offered him 2½cwt. Mr. Molloy said that he had been prepared to pay cash.

Mr. Tunney suggested that it was no use telling people to store food when the small shops could only get limited supplies weekly.

The Minister's warning was described by Mr. Cosgrave as a plan which gave the rich a chance to hoard, while the poor were neglected.

Mr. Dooge said that surely if the poorer people were unable to store food they could get it in a time of emergency from their more fortunate neighbours.

Mr. J. T. Ennis, Chairman, ruled that the Dublin County Council had no statutory authority to interfere.

THEATRE ROYAL

ROYAL MINSTRELS OF 1940

The Theatre Royal was crowded yesterday with an audience come to see the show of "The Royal Minstrels of 1940," and greatly they enjoyed the big and bright programme of fifty favourites. In a programme of twenty-two items there was never a moment's stop in the continuous succession of melody and mirth. There are, in fact, among the artistes some popular performers from the old Swanee and Dixie Minstrels. It is a novel show, if only for the sight of John Lynskey and Eily Murnaghan as negroes, but failing in nothing for excellent singing. One gets all the flavour of the old-time minstrel performances, and, in addition, musical cameos introduced by Jimmy Campbell, the Royal Meistersingers and the excellent Twelve Royal Violettes, as well as Mai McCartney's Kiddies in a "Piccaninny Playground." Dave Daves guides all the fun and music as "interlocutor," and the chief laughter-producers are Al Sharpe, Noel Purcell, Michael Fox, Dick Forbes and Jimmy Harvey; while Eileen Clifford and a full chorus give song episodes. When the "Gang goes Crazy" Jimmy Campbell leads vocally and otherwise, and all the boys recklessly follow him. Louis Perody, Joe Milton and Michael Fox form a capital banjo trio. Maureen McDonagh, as a piccaninny, with Al Sharpe and Noel Purcell to assist, gained the applause of the whole house, which generally enjoyed the entertainment, which was completed with the fine film drama in technicolour, "Untamed."

THE GAIETY THEATRE

"Sparkling" is an appropriate adjective to apply to Ivor Novello's comedy, "Fresh Fields," which is being played this week at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin. It abounds in amusing lines, the concluding act being a continuous run of laughs. The story concerns a visit to London of three boisterous Australians—mother, daughter and uncle—who are accommodated as paying guests "at the same amount as they are paying at the Ritz" by the impecunious Lady Mary Crabbe. The humour is helped by the complications resulting from Lady Mary's omission to tell her sister and her son of the financial arrangement, and by a similar omission in regard to the colonial uncle. There are further threads to the comedy's weave in the fact that two love affairs arise in the very assorted household. Those who want to be amused will find it all excellent entertainment. The work of the company is so evenly divided that one hesitates to mention any in particular. Margery Weston and Evelyn Kerry as two titled sisters of different temperaments were excellent. June Daunt, Peggy O'Dare and Lodge Percy were amusing as caricatures of rough Australians, while Melina Dingwall, Hazel Grey and Frederick Victor performed their smaller parts to perfection.

ABBEY THEATRE

"THE FAR-OFF HILLS"

Lennox Robinson's comedy remains one of the most amusing and popular productions in the Abbey's repertoire, and the company has not allowed their presentation of it to become in any way mechanical.

W. O'Gorman, in the difficult part of Patrick Clancy, was really good; so was Eileen Crowe as the daughter who thought she wanted to be a nun, and Cathleen Fawsitt and Sheila Manahan as the younger children—"Ducky" and "Pet." Ria Mooney made an excellent job of the Susie Tynan rôle, with Denis O'Dea as her nephew. Michael J. Dolan, Austin Meldon and F. J. McCormick were as good as ever in their old parts—and the same applies to May Craig as Ellen.

The house was a little "thin" last night, but the warmth of the applause showed that the audience still enjoys this delightful little comedy.

MEN OF DUNKIRK AGAIN READY

CONFIDENT OF ABILITY TO REPEL INVASION

THE men of Dunkirk—nine divisions strong, brought out with little or no equipment—are now fully reorganised, and at the disposal of the British Commander-in-Chief.

With them are the other men of the British Army—soldiers of the divisions at home—who are now at full strength.

This was authoritatively stated last night.

Side by side with the strongest British Army of all time are aligned thousands of Empire and foreign troops, and new recruits are being drafted in at the rate of 7,000 a day.

Yet the needs of industry for the vital task of equipping the armed forces is being carefully balanced against the demand for men for fighting services.

By training a new industrial army for the skilled tasks of arms production and by "up-grading" lesser skilled workers, the British Ministry of Labour has accomplished the remarkable feat of putting back into munitions work from the unemployed more men than the fighting forces have taken out. Moreover, there is reason to believe that the Minister, Mr. Bevin, is now confident that he can fill every gap in industrial man-power created by the need for fighting personnel.

DIVISIONS AT FULL STRENGTH

This is the picture of Britain to-day—ready to meet an invader in the field; ready to equip its fighting men with the munitions of war.

Evacuation of the British Expeditionary Force from France compelled the immediate bringing up to full strength of the divisions at home. This has now been completed, and the whole of these divisions are at the disposal of the Commander-in-Chief.

The June and July intake into the Army is many times faster than the flow in the preceding two months, and recruits are now being called up at the rate of some 7,000 per day.

As part of the measures taken to cope with this faster flow the capacity of the Army's infantry training centres has been increased. The creation of further new battalions is going on at full speed.

Local Defence Volunteers now number 1,060,000, and during the past few weeks great strides have been made in the task of making Britain impregnable.

OFFENSIVE SPIRIT

A high authority stated last night: "The Army is in excellent heart—it is confident of its ability to attack and destroy the enemy should he attempt to set foot on this island. But let us not forget that it is very important that she should not get too defence-minded.

"Remember that the best defence is a well-trained, well-equipped Army, highly mobile and imbued with the offensive spirit. This spirit is being everywhere cultivated, and we want it to be the national spirit, not necessarily of the fighting forces alone, but also in farm, factory and home."

POSITION OF INDUSTRY

The position in industry was explained in the following terms:—

The Minister of Labour has decided to ask for skilled workers, not at present engaged in work of vital national importance, to register at once at his Labour Exchange, so that when the nation's machine-tool capacity has been fully mobilised the maximum use of his work can be made.

There is no impending conscription of labour. The Minister believes that he can go through the war without having to use to the full the drastic powers with which he is invested.

The immediate aim of the Ministry of Labour is to bring into industry one hundred thousand trained men a year. New factories scheduled to be in production next spring will in many cases be ready to start effective work next month. The regional scheme for the docks ensures that no enemy attempting to bring our shipping to a standstill can succeed. As for the civil defence there are now one and a-half million men and women, full and part-time, ready for duty.

CORPORATION SEEKS LOAN

COMPLAINTS OF VANDALISM

CHEAPER 'BUS FARES URGED

THE Dublin Corporation, at its meeting last night, approved the report of the General Purposes Committee recommending application to the Minister for Local Government and Public Health for sanction for an extension of the boundary of the city, so as to include certain lands at Crumlin.

It was also decided to seek sanction of the Minister for Local Government and Public Health for the borrowing of £250,000 from the Hospitals' Trust Board at five per cent. interest for the term of thirty-five years.

The recommendation came from the General Purposes Committee, and was proposed by Mr. S. Milroy, seconded by Alderman P. S. Doyle, T.D.

The City Manager (Mr. P. J. Hernon) said that he had made inquiries from various sources likely to advance money, but had been informed they had no money to invest. He recommended that the Council should accept the proposed loan.

Alderman C. Breathnach, T.D., admitted that the rate of interest was high, but the City Manager had told them that no better bargain could be obtained. The money was required urgently for building, and for the reduction of unemployment.

An addendum was agreed to, on the motion of Mr. P. Belton, T.D., setting out that the Hospitals' Trust Board should be approached.

VANDALISM

On the monthly report of the City Manager, Alderman T. Kelly, T.D., again referred to the wanton damage done to trees and other city property. He was quite convinced that most of the damage was done by adults and not children, and he suggested that they should appoint rangers, or offer a reward to people who would come forward as witnesses of such damage.

Senator D. D. Healy said that they would have to rouse public conscience to stop this vandalism.

Mr. W. Coleman said that they should set up a municipal police force to cope with this trouble.

Alderman Breathnach said that the extension of the Parish Councils to different districts would help to check the evil.

On the City Manager's report, Senator Healy referred to what he styled the "scandalous treatment" of the citizens by the D.U.T. Co. since a monopoly of the transport services had been given to that company. He had repeatedly seen three or four 'buses, in which there was accommodation, driving past groups of waiting people.

Mr. M. Staines protested against the high fares, and especially the fares on the Clontarf line. Children should be given cheap fares to take them to Dollymount. Instead of that the children's penny fare ceased at Fairview, and the children were unable to get to the sea, and instead crowded into Fairview Park and did damage there.

Other Councillors also protested against the high 'bus fares.

The report was adopted.

RECRUITS FOR ARMY

The Council, on the motion of Mr. P. J. Cahill, adopted a resolution that the City Manager be requested to arrange that any member of the municipal staffs joining the National Forces during the present emergency be paid a sum by way of salary allowance, which, together with his Army pay, would equal his full municipal salary and emoluments, with retrospective effect from September, 1939.

The Council also expressed acceptance of a loan of £12,120 for a period of thirty years at 4½ per cent. per annum from the Irish National Health Insurance Society.

The Council passed a vote of sympathy with the widow and relatives of the late Mr. Robert Bradley, a former member of the Council.

The Lord Mayor (Mrs. T. Clarke) presided.

WEDDINGS

MR. W. H. D. TANSLEY AND MISS E. M. MASLIN

Mr. William H. D. Tansley, son of the late Mr. W. Tansley and Mrs. Tansley, 14 Gilford Drive, Sandymount, was married to Miss Eva M. Maslin, daughter of the late Mr. James W. Maslin and Mrs. Maslin, 24 Arbour Hill, Dublin, yesterday in the Methodist Church, Blackhall place, Dublin. The Service was conducted by the Rev. Robert Moore, assisted by the Rev. R. A. Lockhart. Dr. H. G. Smith was at the organ, and the soloist was Mr. Alastair Dick.

The bride, who wore an off-white embossed satin gown cut on empire lines, was given away by her brother, Mr. W. M. Maslin. Her Limerick lace veil was arranged over orange blossoms and myrtle. She carried a bouquet of white and petunia carnations. There were two bridesmaids—the Misses Vera and Eileen Maslin—who wore picture frocks of white floral taffeta, with petunia shoes and petunia head-dresses. Dr. Cecil Blackham acted as best man, and the groomsmen were Messrs. C. Tansley and N. Maslin.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the St. Andrew's Hotel by the bride's mother. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. W. H. D. Tansley left for the South of Ireland.

MR. W. S. GREIG AND MISS J. HUTCHINSON

The marriage took place at the Ivy Church, North Strand, Dublin, yesterday of Mr. William S. Greig, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greig, 45 Terenure road, North, Dublin, to Miss Joan Hutchinson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hutchinson, 37 North Strand road, Dublin. The Service was conducted by the Rev. C. J. Tyndall, M.A., assisted by the Rev. J. C. Breakey. The bride, who wore a delphinium blue georgette frock and a pink feather head-dress, was given away by her father. Miss D. Campbell, the bridesmaid, wore a sunshine yellow georgette frock and a head-dress of yellow tulle. Mr. G. King acted as best man, and the groomsmen were Messrs. S. V. and W. G. Hutchinson. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Gresham Hotel. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Greig left for the North of Ireland.

CIRCUIT (CRIMINAL) COURT

YACHT THAT FOUNDERED

CASE OF ENGLISHMAN

(BEFORE JUDGE SHANNON.)

A nolle prosequi was entered by the State in the case in which Lionel Victor Earle, a young Englishman from London, had been sent forward on a charge of stealing a yacht, The Falcon, the property of Alexander Hamilton, Annaville Park, Dundrum, from its moorings at Clontarf on the night of 12th September last. Earle agreed to pay £100, the value of the yacht, which had foundered in the Irish Sea off the Holyhead coast. He also agreed to pay £10 State expenses.

Detective-Sergeant J. Berry stated that he had received £120 from Earle.

Judge Shannon directed that £10 be handed back to Earle, adding: "I do not want him to go back to England without sufficient means."

Earle was then discharged.

Mr. P. A. Sheehan (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) appeared for the prosecution.

SOLICITOR'S CLERK SENTENCED

Martin J. Hoysted (33), Phibsborough road, Dublin, a solicitor's clerk, was sent to prison for nine months on a charge of fraudulent embezzlement and conversion of a sum of £138, the property of his employer.

Mr. F. J. Dunne, solicitor, for the defendant, who pleaded guilty, said that Hoysted had been employed by a solicitor since 1937. A sum of £18 had been stolen from him, and in attempting to recoup the loss he had put himself in the present position. Most of the money involved was lost in dog racing. If given a chance Hoysted would make an effort to repay the money.

The judge said that to a large extent Hoysted had brought the punishment on himself. He had brought ruin upon himself and shamed his name. He was taking that into account when imposing a sentence which was, possibly, too light.

Mr. P. A. Sheehan (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted.

William Finlay, a young man with an address in Watling street, was found not guilty on the charge of stealing money from women's handbags at dances in the city. He was discharged.

"A MEAN OFFENCE"

Vincent Hutchinson, with an address at Summerhill, pleaded guilty to receiving some of the money stolen.

Mr. Walter Molony (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) appeared for the prosecution.

Judge Shannon said that stealing money from handbags at dances was a particularly low and mean offence, as often the owners had all the money they owned in their handbags. If anyone came before him convicted of such an offence he would be severely dealt with.

As Hutchinson had pleaded guilty to receiving, and there was nothing previously against him, he would impose a suspensory sentence of six months' imprisonment.

"NOT GUILTY"

John Burke, Fenian street, was found not guilty of breaking and entering the stores of Michael Howlett, Lower Clanbrassil street, Dublin, and stealing a quantity of aluminium and brass valued at £7. He was also found not guilty of receiving the property, knowing it to have been stolen.

He was discharged.

Mr. Walter Molony (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted.

LANDED OFF DINGLE

CASE OF KARL ANDERSON

THREE YEARS' PENAL SERVITUDE

KARL ANDERSON, who pleaded guilty before the Special Criminal Court in Dublin yesterday to illegally landing near Dingle, County Kerry, on or about June 13 last, was sentenced to three years' penal servitude.

The State entered a nolle prosequi on a second charge, which accused Anderson of landing in Eire from an aircraft "at a place other than an approved airport."

After the accused man had pleaded guilty, the Court, on the application of State counsel, continued the case in camera.

Before sentence was pronounced a police officer gave evidence that Anderson, under the name of Hermann Christian Simon, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment at Tonbridge, England, on February 15, 1938, for failing to sign the register under the Aliens Act, and a further three months for failing to furnish particulars to the registration officer—the sentences to run consecutively.

When Anderson was first before the Court on June 22 last the prosecuting solicitor stated that he had been kept under observation by three detectives on the train from Tralee to Dublin.

CONTENTS OF PARCEL

The detectives got into conversation with him and he asked them if they were members of a certain organisation in this country. They took him into custody, searched a parcel which he carried and found that it contained 120 £1 Bank of England notes, 100 10s. Bank of England notes, 910 U.S. one-dollar bills, 10 U.S. five-dollar bills, 35 U.S. 100-dollar bills and 300 U.S. two-dollar bills. In a leather wallet was £44 in single Bank of England notes and some loose change, making a total of £215 15s. 10d. in sterling and 1,910 U.S. dollars.

In a statement to the Guards, said the prosecuting solicitor, Anderson said that he was a native of Sweden, but had become a naturalised Australian subject. He lived in Australia from an early age, he said, and when fourteen or fifteen went to sea and earned a large sum of money whaling off the west coast of South America. Early in 1939 he went to Rotterdam, taking all his money with him. A week before the Germans invaded Holland he withdrew all his money—over 3,000 dollars. He went aboard an English boat and was landed about midnight on June 12th at Dingle.

Yesterday Mr. O. Moriarty, K.C. (instructed by Mr. James A. Geary, Chief State Solicitor's office) appeared for the State, and Mr. John L. Esmonde T.D. (instructed by Mr. James J. O'Connor) defended.

LOSS OF HUSBANDS

AWARDS TO WIDOWS

(BEFORE THE PRESIDENT OF THE HIGH COURT.)

The following settlements were announced:

In an action of Mrs. Winifred Coffey, Strand street, Wicklow, against James Byrne, hotel proprietor, Delgany Hotel, Delgany, for damages for the death of Mrs. Coffey's husband, William, labourer, boot repairer and handyman, who was struck by Mr. Byrne's motor car on the Ashford-Rathnew road on December 3 last, a sum of £600 and costs to be paid, £300 being apportioned to Mrs. Coffey and the balance among her six children.

Mr. Michael J. Ryan, K.C., and Mr. Art O'Connor (instructed by Messrs. J. H. McCarroll and Co.) appeared for Mrs. Coffey; and Messrs. Good and Murray were solicitors for Mr. Byrne.

A sum of £350 to be paid in an action of Ellen Teresa Hayden, a minor, suing by her father, Patrick Hayden, coal merchant, The Quay, Graiguenamanagh, Co. Kilkenny, against Laurence and Michael O'Neill, trading as O'Neill Brothers, taxi proprietors, Graiguenamanagh, for damages for injuries suffered when she was struck by Messrs. O'Neill's motor car at the Rower, Co. Kilkenny, on November 26 last.

Mr. M. J. Molloy (instructed by Mr. T. J. Kelly) appeared for the girl; and Messrs. Little, O hUadhaigh and Proud were solicitors for Messrs. O'Neill.

In an action of Mrs. Ellen Ryan, Scurlogstown, Trim, against George H. Lowry, Under-sheriff, Ceanannus Mor, claiming damages for the death of her husband, Daniel, builder's labourer and small farmer, who was struck when he was cycling at Larkin's Corner, Trim, by Mr. Lowry's motor car, on November 23 last, a sum of £325 and costs to be paid, £145 being apportioned to Mrs. Ryan and the balance among her three children.

Mr. T. Teevan (instructed by Mr. A. J. Malone) appeared for Mrs. Ryan; and Messrs. Milward Jones, Mayne and Sharpe were solicitors for Mr. Lowry.

Christina Gaffney, a minor, suing by her father, John Gaffney, The Cottages, Keogh square, Inchicore, Dublin, is to receive £175 in settlement of her action against Andrew Egan, Moneen Cottage, Kingswood, Dublin, for damages for injuries received when she was knocked down while cycling by Mr. Egan's motor car at Blacklion, Inchicore, on August 28 last.

Mr. C. O'Daly (instructed by Mr. L. Trant McCarthy) appeared for the girl; and Messrs. J. H. McLoughlin and Son were solicitors for Mr. Egan.

REDUCTION OF CAPITAL

DUBLIN COMPANY'S PETITION

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE GAVAN DUFFY.)

Mr. Charles S. Campbell, K.C., with whom was Mr. Arthur Burne (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co.), applied on behalf of Nassau Trust, Ltd., and Reduced, Nassau street, Dublin, for directions preliminary to the hearing of a petition by the company to have its share capital reduced from £5,000 to £1,000. He said that the £5,000 share capital was fully paid up, and that it was proposed to return £4,000 of it. The company was a money-lending concern incorporated in the year 1929; there were only two shareholders, and, in fact, it was a one-man concern. The capital was now wholly in excess of the company's needs, and the usual special resolution required by the Companies Acts in connection with the proposed reduction of capital had been passed. It was proposed to repay £4,000 of the share capital. He did not think that any person could be affected, because the evidence showed that there were no debts and no liabilities of the concern at all. The gross assets were £27,473. In those circumstances one could understand that the balance of the share capital really was unnecessary.

Mr. Justice Gavan Duffy directed the usual advertisements and inquiries.

ROYAL HOSPITAL FOR INCURABLES

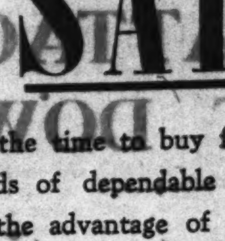

The City of Dublin Old Comrades' Band, assisted by the Toc H League of Women Helpers, gave a very enjoyable entertainment to the patients of the Royal Hospital for Incurables, Donnybrook, in their grounds on Saturday. Lieut.-Colonel R. H. St. C. Robinson was present, and the band (conducted by Mr. G. Watson) played a programme of music.

Stated to contain the names of 319 persons killed, 2,962 wounded, and 304 missing, the first Italian casualty list of the war will be issued to-day.

Your Child's Health is at Stake

There is danger in "saving" on Home Remedies—Ask Your Doctor

One point on which all doctors, nurses and child welfare experts agree is—Never give your child unknown remedies without asking your doctor first.

All mothers know this, but not all practise it. Often the instinct to save a few pennies by buying "something just as good" overcomes their caution.

So when your little one has an upset stomach, is sick and bilious, get 'Milk of Magnesia.' Then you can rest assured that you have the safest and best antacid that money can buy.

Prescribed by doctors and used by nurses, 'Milk of Magnesia' is the ideal preparation for a child. It sweetens a sour stomach in a few minutes. It cools the blood and gently regulates the bowels as nothing else can.

Many mothers find 'Milk of Magnesia' brand Tablets handy. Their pleasant mint flavour appeals very strongly to children, who take them eagerly.

Obtainable everywhere.
'Milk of Magnesia' 1/3 and 2/6 (Treble Size)
Also 'Milk of Magnesia' Tablets 6d., 1/-, 2/- and 3/6.

'MILK OF MAGNESIA'

CANADIAN CABINET CHANGES

NEW MINISTRY CREATED

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

OTTAWA, Monday.

Mr. Mackenzie King, Canadian Prime Minister, to-night announced the appointment of Mr. James Ilsley, Minister of Revenue, to succeed Colonel Ralston as Minister of Finance. Colonel Ralston was sworn in as Minister of Defence last Friday.

Mr. Hanson, the Opposition Leader, has accepted an offer to join the Cabinet's War Committee.

A similar invitation has been extended to Mr. Grote Stirling, who was Minister for National Defence in the last Conservative Government.

A new post of Minister of Naval Defence has been created to be filled by Mr. Angus Lewis Macdonald, Premier of Nova Scotia.

A corporation, to be called "Allied Supplies, Ltd.," would be established to supply munitions for Britain under the joint control of the British and Canadian Governments.

WILSON'S HOSPITAL, MULTYFARNHAM

At the annual sports and prize day held at Wilson's Hospital, Multyfarnham, the Bishop of Meath presided and distributed the prizes. Lord Farnham, D.S.O., addressed the pupils on "self-discipline and its influence in the building up of life."

In his report the Warden (the Dean of Clonmacnoise) said that there were 103 boys in the school—72 secondary and 31 preparatory. Of ten boys presented for the Intermediate certificate examination five passed with honours and three passed. In the religious knowledge examination 68 out of 71 boys passed, 43 receiving first prizes, 15 second prizes, and three third prizes. Seven former pupils of the school are now in Trinity College Dublin, where all are following honour courses.

John K. Adams, Hanover street, was fined 20s. in the Belfast Police Court for conduct likely to lead to a breach of the peace. Defendant was stated to have used bad language in Wellington place, and to have shouted at soldiers: "You let Hitler chase you from Dunkirk."

Simple recipe restores colour to Grey Hair

Take years off your looks by giving your grey hair back its youthful colour. It's simple, safe, inexpensive, quick! Here's the recipe. To a half pint of water add one ounce of Bay Rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and a quarter ounce of glycerine. That's all! Any chemist will make this up or supply the ingredients. Apply the mixture twice weekly and your grey hair will soon glow with natural colour. Orlex isn't sticky, won't rub off and doesn't colour the scalp. Tear out this recipe and begin saying good-bye to gray hair to-day.

IRISH ARMY FILMS

THIS WEEK'S RELEASE

Army films are going to be popular in this country judging by the reception accorded to the new series of short films, dealing with defence work, the second of which was released this week.

Plans have been prepared for the development of film publicity for the military forces, and new films are in the course of production.

This week's release deals with various aspects of the coast-watching service, anti-aircraft batteries, coastal air patrol, and the big batteries in the defended harbours. This is the first occasion on which Ireland's sailors have been filmed.

The Pathé Company, which is producing the pictures, have combined the "shots" comprising the "call to arms," the "Land Forces," and "Coastal Defences," into one film. It will be featured in the Metropole and Corinthian Cinemas, Dublin, during the present week.

TRAINING ACTIVITIES IN WAR-TIME

Testing Two-year-olds at Home: Many Horses Destroyed

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Monday Night.

It is not in the least likely that any formal announcement will be made this week either through the Racing Calendar or from any other quarter about the prospects for a resumpting of racing. It can be taken as certain that a considerable time must pass before there can be any such resumption, nor will any further negotiations take place on the matter between the Stewards of the Jockey Club and the Government.

Last week we should have had the yearling sales at Newmarket. That there will be any there at all this year is extremely doubtful. At the present moment decisions about the future of horses in training and yearlings are entirely a matter for the owners concerned.

Stables Reduced

In the course of the last ten days the writer has been at several places where horses are trained or have been trained. Some of the bigger stables which have rich patrons have less than half; in some cases a good deal less than half, of their normal complement. That is to say, that a trainer who would in the ordinary way have sixty boxes full now has no more than twenty or twenty-five with occupants, and this number is steadily getting less.

Newmarket, for reasons that can be understood is suffering most from the evacuations of bloodstock. Epsom is another quarter a good deal affected. In Wiltshire and Berkshire there are still a fair number of horses being kept in work. The 1,000 Guineas and Oaks winner, Godiva, will make Ireland her future home, but the new Derby winner, Pont l'Eveque, is still in training.

The Two-year-olds

The principal evacuations from the training stables consist of the older horses. It is for the most part the two-year-olds that have been kept in work pending developments.

On account of the conditions it has not been possible to give a race to a large number of first-season horses, and they are being persevered with in order to test their merits as far as is possible at home, so that their owners can decide later in the year whether to retain them, try to dispose of them, or else have them destroyed. The destruction of horses in the course of the last three weeks has been heavy.

Several owners who have horses in training in England are, by the way, completely out of touch with their trainers. The Aga Khan, for instance, is marooned in Switzerland, and his son, the Aly Khan, is understood to be in Syria.

French Owners

I believe that nothing has been heard from M. Boussac for a considerable time. One of his compatriots, Baron Maurice de Rothschild, who, with his brothers, owns an enormous stable in France, arrived in Scotland to-day from Lisbon, with a party of refugees.

Mr. James Hennessy has remained in Paris. A number of his racehorses in training were ordered to be destroyed when his trainer, George Batchelor, had to vacate his training quarters. In the evacuation of Chantilly and other training quarters only the best horses were removed. The others were destroyed.

NEWSPAPERS WIN SOCIETIES' CUP

TOBACCO TRADE LOSE BY THE ODD MATCH

For the first time since its inception twenty years ago, the Dublin Newspapers G.S. won the United Societies' Cup at Foxrock last evening, beating in the final Tobacco Trade G.S. by three matches to two.

The result hinged on the last match, in which C. Arnold and G. Burrows beat J. McNeill and P. J. Lennon at the 17th. They were one down going to the 14th, but square after the 16th. Burrows clinched the issue at the short seventeenth by holing a long putt for a 2.

In the leading game Charles Carroll, partnered by S. Spratt, had a grand match with the Newspapers' strongest pair, T. Walsh and D. J. Kerr. They lost the first two holes, and were two down at the turn to fine golf by their opponents. A fine chip by Carroll at the 11th enabled his side to reduce the arrears, and the turning point came at the 13th, where with a stroke Walsh and Kerr could not get a half. Two up with three to play, Carroll and Spratt were not asked to hole out at the home hole. Their opponents broke down and picked up after playing five.

J. P. Rooney and P. A. Sheehan lost the first two holes to Vincent Carroll and F. R. Stern, but were on level terms at the turn. The home holes were remarkable, in that five stymies were laid. Sheehan holed round a seemingly impossible one at the 15th, and on the home green, confronted with a half stymie downhill, he was in off the other ball for the necessary half and the match. M. Hopper and R. Brophy won eight of the first nine holes from G. Davis and L. C. Wilson. They also won the 10th, and when the match ended were only one over bogey, winning by 6 and 5. W. J. O'Ferrall and H. L. Millington, of the Tobacco Trade, got off with a flying start from L. J. Arnott and D. E. Chance, winning five of the first six. Newspapers had reduced the lead to 3 at the eighth, but lost the next four to 4, 3, 4, 4—a grand finish by the winners.

At the dinner which followed the President, Mr. Dixon, paid tribute to the work done by the late hon. secretary, Mr. Fred Jones, whose business necessitated his resignation. The Societies as a mark of their esteem had presented Mr. Jones with a gold watch, and also made a present to Mrs. Jones. Mr. Jones, who had been called to London yesterday morning, wrote regretting his absence. Mr. Dixon and other speakers referred to the manner in which the new hon. secretary, Mr. Cronhelm, had carried out the arrangements for the tournament. "The Winning Team" was proposed by Mr. Charles Carroll, and "The Tobacco Trade" by Mr. Hector Legge.

IRISH CHAMPIONSHIPS

Seeded Players Lose Sets in Second Round

SOME of the leading players in the Irish Men's Singles Championship had unexpectedly tough resistance at Fitzwilliam yesterday, when the second round of that event was completed. A. E. Fannin lost the second set to S. Robb, junior champion two years ago; H. J. Ryan lost the first set to R. Buchanan, and R. F. Egan had to play a sixteen games second set against D. Miley, a son of the former international, V. Miley. The only seeded player to come through quickly was C. A. Kemp, who was deadly accurate against a hard-hitting, promising player in C. M. O'Rorke.

Both Fannin and Ryan ran away with the final set to love against their opponents, and the former hit some of his most perfect shots in those last six games, but in the second set he was very inaccurate against some steady retrieving by Robb. Although his game lacks pace, R. Buchanan places well, and he showed an ability to pick up Ryan's fastest drives. He also made clever use of the drop shot, but pace beat him in the end. Young Miley has a nice, easy style, and was not a bit afraid to attack Egan in the second set, but the latter could generally produce the right shot when in a tight corner.

There was nothing of special interest in the first round of the women's singles, but there was a most exciting battle in the first round of the mixed doubles, Egan and Miss Lombard only just getting home against B. Mathews and Miss S. Hogan. With Mathews smashing in his best vein, and his partner giving him grand support from the base-line, they won the first set in the sixteenth game, and had a definite chance of victory with 40-15 on Miss Hogan's service for a 4-3 lead in the final set. Once again Egan pulled out some match-winning shots, and he and his partner came through eventually at 6-4. Results:—

CURRAGH NOTES

ANOTHER CANDIDATE FOR IRISH OAKS EXPECTED

THE CURRAGH, Monday.

There have been several additions from England to various stables. Among those expected to arrive at R. Fetherstonhaugh's is Mr. J. V. Rank's Formality. This filly by Blenheim—Flambe is engaged in the Irish Oaks, which is now likely to attract a good-sized field.

BEARY'S Willow Tree and Goose Feather cantered five furlongs.

BRABAZON'S Bright Earl, Ribs, Sportsgirl and others covered the same distance steadily.

CANTY'S Knight's Caprice, Great Caprice, Cavalaire, Charming Boy, Magic Bubble, Overall and two-year-olds had brisk bouts of healthy exercise.

COLLINS'S Philipian, Bold Eagle, French Archer, Star of Hope, Clogher Head, Broadcaster, Four Flusher and two-year-olds were similarly employed.

DAWSON'S Luminal, Little Wench, Erin's Call and others cantered.

DOYLE'S Another Greek, Fishguard, Egyptian Queen, Beggar Lass went five furlongs.

FETHERSTONHAUGH'S Brennan and Shannon went a mile. Tzann, Precious Poll, En Route, Good and Gay cantered steadily the same distance.

HARTIGAN'S Pancha, Belahouston, Prada, Falkirk, Cappoquin, Woodside, and two-year-olds had bouts of healthy exercise.

MALONE'S Knight of the Mill and St. Xarbeck cantered a mile. Dandy Boy, Inniscrone, Country Girl, Sweet Peach and others were usefully employed over five furlongs.

PARKINSON'S Bambola, Allanwood, Boojum, Gransden, Fairwarger, Eskimo, Winagent, Tuber, Clonbern, Lopticaer and the rest of the Maddenstown Lodge team were usefully employed.

ROGERS'S Epilogue, Fyfie, Gloucester, Potted Meat, Bottle Bush, Wyelands, Silkworm, Onward, Kingstown Gorse and others had brisk spins from five furlongs.

WELLESLEY'S Bland Wing, Roe, Control, Vides, River Gem, Garter King and others were usefully employed.

EVENING RACING AT PHŒNIX PARK

There is promise of very interesting sport at to-morrow's meeting at the Phœnix Park course, where racing will not start until 6.30 p.m. This late hour of commencing should appeal to those engaged in business during the day, and who are thus afforded an opportunity of enjoying good-class racing in the cool of the evening and in delightful surroundings. The entries are exceptionally large, and strong fields are likely to contest the various events, chief of which is the Blake Plate of 200 sovs.

ORDER OF RUNNING:

6.30	Free Selling Plate.	7.45	Harcourt Plate.
6.55	Hatchet Plate.	8.10	Herbertstown Plate.
7.20	Blake Plate.	8.35	Headfort Plate.

DEATH OF MR. PETER KELLY

The death has occurred at his residence, Ashtown, Co. Dublin, of Mr. Peter Kelly, who some years ago ran a few horses which he trained himself. Probably the best of them was Faithful Tag, who won three races as a three-year-old, and Bem. Mr. Kelly was a member of the Licensed Vintners' Association. The funeral takes place to-day from St. Brigid's, Blanchardstown, after 10 o'clock Mass, to Glasnevin.

GREYHOUND RACING

CLEVER VICTORY FOR TALL FEE

TWO BRIGHT EYES WINS MULLINGAR STAKE

At Shelbourne Park last night Tall Fee proved a clever winner of the Shelbourne Stake. Light Sign led for more than half the distance, but rounding the second last bend Tall Fee raced to the front, and held on to win by two lengths in 30.66 secs., the best time of the night. Two Bright Eyes atoned for several recent failures by a success in the Mullingar Stake, and Elton Dasher was an easy winner of the Celtic Hurdle. Details:—

DUBLIN STAKE—Mr. P. Watson's RED MAPLE (2), 9 to 4, 1; VESINGTON VETERAN (5), 6 to 1, 2; MURROE GROVE (4), 2 to 1, 3. Also ran—Gilt Edge (6), 5 to 1; Novelty (3), 5 to 2 (fell); Sydney (1), 5 to 1 (fell). 2l.; 1l. 31.44 secs.

THE LUMSDEN CUP

J. LYONS HAS EASY PASSAGE TO SEMI-FINAL

As a result of last evening's play in the Lumsden Cup at the Grange, K. P. Connell (Newlands), J. Lyons (Kilkenny), M. J. O'Brien (Milltown) and D. Purcell (Killiney) will contest the semi-finals this evening, commencing at 5.0.

The best golf in the quarter-finals was played by Purcell, who beat D. Mulcahy (Milltown) by 2 and 1. He was out in 34 for a lead of 5 holes, and, although conceding 3 strokes on the way home, he held on to win by 2 and 1. J. Lyons, the likely winner of the event, found D. J. Smyth (Grange) right off his game, and without producing his best form the Kilkenny man won by 6 and 5. He was out in 35, and 5 up.

K. P. Connell staged a great recovery to beat H. McInnally (Howth) by 4 and 2. Two down at the turn Connell squared at the eleventh. He halved the twelfth, and then won the next four holes in 4 5 2 4. M. O'Brien, who had a tendency to hook his drives, had to fight hard to beat W. P. Lewis (Grange), who was receiving 4 strokes, by 2 up. O'Brien won the first two holes, but Lewis squared at the ninth, and took the lead for the first time at the tenth, where he was receiving a stroke. Playing the seventeenth the match was all square again, but here O'Brien, although half-stymied, took the lead with a 5. At the last hole Lewis drove out of bounds, and he thus lost his chance of saving the match. Details:—

FIFTH ROUND.

K. P. Connell (Newlands) (5) beat H. McInnally (Howth) (7)—4 and 2.

J. Lyons (Kilkenny) (6) beat D. J. Smyth (Grange) (6)—6 and 5.

M. J. O'Brien (Milltown) (1) beat W. P. Lewis (Grange) (6)—2 up.

D. Purcell (Killiney) (4) beat D. Mulcahy (Milltown) (9)—2 and 1.

Courses for civil servants in auxiliary fire-fighting are being conducted under the direction of Captain P. J. McDonagh, Courts of Justice, and Mr. J. Bell, Registry of Deeds, at the centre for training, Four Courts, Dublin. The lectures deal with the treatment of incendiary bombs, the composition of chemical fire extinguishers, their care, maintenance and use in fire-fighting tests; military drill under the direction of Civic Guard Kielt, Bridewell Station, and fire-hose drill under the direction of Captain McDonagh.

First aid courses are under the direction of Captain J. Hughes, Public Record Office, assisted by Mr. A. McAllister, Land Registry Building, and Mr. P. J. Dunphy, Courts of Justice.

Mr. Robert Collins, Supervisor for the Board of Works, renders efficient co-operation.

FEWER WORKLESS IN BRITAIN

There were 113,987 fewer workless people in Britain on June 17 than there were on May 20. The total (766,835) was the lowest since unemployment returns were first recorded in 1920. The June total was 582,744 below that for the corresponding month last year.

IRISH NEWS IN BRIEF

Red Cross Society.—Branches of the Red Cross Society have been formed in Kildare and Tullaroan.

* * *

Increase for Labourers.—Forty labourers employed on Thomastown housing scheme have received an increase of 6s. per week, making their weekly wages 42s.

* * *

Athlone Woollen Mills Re-open.—Athlone Woollen Mills re-opened yesterday after being closed down for a fortnight owing to a strike which was stated to be unofficial. The workers resumed on the old conditions.

* * *

Cork Girl's Injuries. — Miss Noreen O'Flynn (18), residing at Ballyhooly road, Cork, who received severe head injuries when accidentally struck by a discus while watching a novice sports meeting in Cork, is detained at the Mercy Hospital. Her condition was yesterday reported as very serious.

* * *

Birth Certificates.—The cost of obtaining birth certificates was discussed at South Cork Board of Public Assistance yesterday, Mr. B. Cooney presiding, when a resolution was adopted unanimously asking the Minister for Defence to arrange to have issued at 6d. each birth certificates required by the military authorities for purposes of paying allowances in respect of children.

* * *

Housing Scheme.—Mr. P. J. Ruttledge, Minister for Local Government, will visit Limerick on July 17 for the purpose of opening Janesboro' housing scheme, and turning the first sod on the Killalee site. Mr. J. J. Berkey, Limerick City Manager, stated yesterday that a grant of £25,000 would be made available shortly for summer relief works in the city. This is more than treble the amount given last year.

* * *

The Bead Industry.—A manufacturer's agent and a number of workers yesterday gave evidence before the Industrial Court, which is inquiring, under the chairmanship of Mr. T. Forbes, into the rosary bead industry. Mr. J. H. Sheridan, a manufacturer's agent, said that trade in imported rosaries virtually had ceased. He agreed that a standard price for home-made or home-assembled rosaries might be a good thing. Beads cheaper than sixpence were no longer available. The Court adjourned.

* * *

Clann na hEireann.—Clann na hEireann has taken possession of a four-acre field from the Land Commission as a playing field beside the hostel in the Meath Gaeltacht. A tennis court has been provided already in the grounds of the hostel. Last week the eighty children holiday-making in the hostel, with the teachers in charge, visited the Hill of Slane, Monasterboice, Brugh na Bóinne and Mellifont. Last Sunday parents and visitors left Dublin by special 'bus to spend the day among the children there.

* * *

A Dangerous Bathing Place.—That death was due to asphyxia following drowning was the verdict returned by Coroner Dr. William O'Sullivan at an inquest which was held at Killarney District Hospital on the body of James Ryan (15), of Glebe lane, Killarney, who lost his life while bathing at Bunrower Bay, in the Lower Lake, last Sunday. The Coroner said that it was a dangerous place, because there were shifting sands and great, big holes there. Sergeant W. Burns agreed that it is a dangerous place, and suggested that notices be exhibited there warning the public of danger.

* * *

Parish Councils for Carlow.—A meeting was held in the Town Hall, Carlow, last Sunday night for the purpose of establishing parish councils throughout County Carlow. The Most Rev. Dr. Keogh, who presided, said that the very large attendance indicated that they realised the danger that threatened the country. The immediate purpose of parish councils was to make what provision they could in each parish to lessen the evils should an attack take place, and minimise them as far as possible. Should the danger that threatened them come, the Bishop added, he would be with his people. The Rev. Father Hayes, Tipperary, said that the present crisis brought home to them the need of unity and harmony.

* * *

Cheap Fares for Soldiers' Claim.—A resolution urging cheap rail and 'bus fares for soldiers in uniform to enable them to visit their wives and families, and reduced prices of admission to cinemas and other entertainments, were passed by the newly-formed Soldiers' Aid Committee in Galway yesterday. The committee is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Timoney, wife of Captain Timoney, O.C., Renmore Barracks. Mr. J. Mongan, T.D., Chairman, Irish Hotels' Federation, promises to call a special meeting of his federation to consider a further resolution asking for special hotel rates for soldiers travelling throughout the country on business. It was announced that first aid packs are being made up for soldiers.

Mental Hospitals in War Time.—The position of mental hospitals in Eire in war time was referred to by Dr. A. Fitzgerald, Resident Medical Superintendent, at the monthly meeting of the Waterford Mental Hospital Committee of Management. Dr. Fitzgerald said that he had communicated with the Local Government Department asking if any instructions had been issued with regard to mental hospitals with large populations of helpless and, in panic, almost unmanageable persons. They had no A.R.P. shelters in Waterford Hospital, and such basements as were available were occupied as tradesmen's shops or utilised as stores. It would be very expensive to fortify the basements. Commissioner S. J. Moynihan suggested that a huge Red Cross, with a white background, should be painted conspicuously on the roof of the institute. The matter was deferred pending a reply from the Department.

General Franco is placing the Palace of La Granja—the former summer residence of the Spanish Royal Family, about 35 miles north of Madrid—at the disposal of the children of King Leopold, who are at present at San Sebastian. Renovations are now being carried out.—(Reuter.)

By a majority ballot vote Arklow dockers have decided to accept wage increases of 20 per cent. from Arklow merchants.

Settlement terms arrived at with employés of Irish Pharmaceuticals, Ltd., Basin lane, Dublin, who are on strike for seven weeks, provided for increases of 10s. per week (adults) and 5s. per week (juveniles). Increases, it is understood, will be paid with six weeks' "back money."

Increases in wages of 4s. and 2s. per week for employés of McMaster, Hodgson and Co., Ltd., 4s. and 2s. for employés of Hugh Moore and Alexanders, Linen Hall, and of 3s., 2s. 6d. and 2s. per week for employés of Shirley, Spence and Belford, Ltd., Mary street, Dublin, have been obtained after negotiations opened by the Irish Transport Workers' Union.

Workers in Dublin wooden box manufacturing firms and in iron and steel construction work have also secured increases of 1d. per hour. The working week for iron and steel construction workers is now 44 hours.
